

HUGHES AT LOGGERHEADS WITH SENATE

SAYS COOLIDGE WITHIN RIGHTS ON DAWES PLAN

Kellogg Agreement Is Defended by Secretary In Message

Washington, Feb. 4.—Secretary Hughes' formal disclaimer that the United States has become involved in the reparations controversy abroad by becoming an official partner in the Dawes plan did not satisfy his critics in the senate today. On the other hand, they were distinctly nettled and a discussion on the floor of the senate was imminent.

Secretary Hughes virtually informed the senate that the agreement negotiated and signed at Paris by Secretary of State-designate Kellogg, is "none of its business." His letter to the senate, did not, of course, put the matter in such blunt language, but stripped of its diplomatic niceties of expression that is what it amounted to.

The president was entirely within his rights in going ahead with the agreement, independently of, and irrespective of the senate's wishes, Hughes declared, under that constitutional authority which gives the executive power to adjust claims with foreign nations.

The principal point which nettled the senate irreconcilables was the secretary's pointed refusal to divulge any of the details of the Paris conference. The Johnson resolution unanimously passed by the senate requested "full information concerning these negotiations and, in his reply Hughes simply ignored this part."

This omission may lead to Senator Johnson, Republican of California, to introduce another resolution, requesting specific information as to whether Kellogg did or did not attempt to attach such an amendment to the agreement, stating that America, by signing, was not committing herself to help the allies collect reparations from Germany.

Th. reservation was properly objected to by other allies and subsequently withdrawn by Kellogg.

The irreconcilables point is this: "If, as Secretary Hughes says, the United States is not bound, either legally or morally, to aid the allies in forcing Germany to disgorge, why is there objection on the part of the allied statesmen in Paris to a reservation specifically stating so?"

The fact that the allies did object to such a reservation, they say, means that they do consider the United States bound to help in forcing Germany to pay.

The mystery surrounding the Kellogg reservation was only deepened by Secretary Hughes' letter. When it was first reported from Paris, Secretary Hughes denied that Kellogg had endeavored to attach such a reservation to the agreement. Subsequently however, after communication between Paris and Washington this denial was modified and lately, it has been impossible to secure information about it from the department.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN NEAR XENIA AS GAS EXPLODES TUESDAY

Fire originating from a gasoline explosion, entirely destroyed a barn and contents on a farm owned by Edward Nichols, this city, and tenanted by Wesley Melvin, New Burlington Pike near Xenia, about 7:10 o'clock Tuesday night.

Damage to both the barn and contents was estimated to run well over $3,500. No insurance was carried on the contents. Insurance on the barn amounted to $1,200.

The fire originated when Melvin was in the act of drawing gasoline from one of his autos kept in the barn to fill the tank of his Ford. Some of the gasoline ran down his right arm to a lighted lantern which exploded, severely burning Melvin's arm.

The flames were fed by loose hay and chaff on the floor and reaching the three tons of hay in the bins spread rapidly.

Firemen were first directed to the Hooven and Allison Mills. The department returned after the fire was found to be beyond the corporation limits.

Fire Chief T. B. Claire, however, went to the scene, and assisted in forming a bucket brigade that helped save the residence and chicken house from destruction. The wind was blowing in a north-westerly direction and the farm house, less than forty feet away, was not seriously threatened.

Three automobiles, including two Chevrolet touring cars, and a Ford touring car, a motorcycle, three tons of hay and various farm implements were destroyed.

Several chemicals were brought from the O. S. and S. O. Home but were used merely as a precautionary measure against a spreading of the flames.

Two cows were taken from the stable before the flames had gained much headway.

EXPLORER CAUGHT IN CAVE IS FREED

Police Scout Confession Of Child Who Tells Of Poisoning Three; Is Examined

Kidnap Girl

Miss Mary Ellen Mellon, stepdaughter of R. E. Halliburton, wealthy Oklahoma City, Okla., merchant and a distant relative of Andrew B. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, Secretary of the Treasury, was attacked in her home and kidnaped by robbers she surprised. When she attempted to scream, she was beaten, gagged, bound and carried to a waiting automobile. Several miles away from her home she was thrown out on the roadside and lay unconscious for several hours before being found.

FINANCIAL RELIEF BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE; UP TO HOUSE

Think Measure Will Be In Donahay's Hands Before Night

Columbus, O., Feb. 4.—Passage of the emergency financial relief bill for cities and school districts is expected today and the measure will probably be in Governor Donahay's hands before night. The house is expected to concur without delay in technical senate amendments in the measure.

The bill was passed by the senate late Tuesday. In its final form the measure authorizes maximum three mill levy in cities and school districts upon petition of a majority of voters to meet deficiencies.

Consideration of permanent tax legislation is expected to get under way today or Thursday when Majority leader Taft in the house confers with Governor Donahay on the Republican legislative tax program.

Most of these measures are now before the legislature. The program is said to follow closely the provisions of the Taft act which was rejected by the voters in 1923, but extends the rights of home rule in most instances.

DISCOVER POISON CAUSED DEATHS OF OHIO STUDENTS

Columbus, O., Feb. 4.—Startling discovery that poison, taken unknowingly and not spotted fever (cerebral spinal meningitis), caused the deaths of two Ohio State University students, Charles H. Huls, Logan, and David Pusken, Canton, a few days ago and the near death Tuesday night of George H. Thompson also of Canton, seemed apparent here today.

Information in the hands of O. S. U. medical authorities today indicate, it was stated, that Huls, Pusken and Thompson and three other students, all studying in the O. S. U. college of commerce, and journalism, obtained capsules medicine at the O. S. U. pharmaceutical laboratory, as treatment for colds, and that some of the capsules contained strychnine.

O. S. U. officials, it was announced, are probing the mystery in an effort to learn how the strychnine came to be mixed with the medicine.

Names of the other three students have not been disclosed.

Columbus, O., Feb. 4.—George D. Thompson, Canton, is a patient at University hospital here today, afflicted with cerebral meningitis. He is a senior in the college of commerce and journalism, Ohio State University. Two other members of the College, Charles H. Huls, Logan, and David Pusken, Canton, died a few days ago victims of this dread malady.

Another O. S. U. student, Enert Metcalf, 19, Centerburg, Knox County, recently died from meningitis but physicians declared it was not the epidemic type.

Los Angeles, Feb. 4.—Love and tragedy were linked hand in hand today when seven year Alsa Thompson's confession that she took the lives of her baby twin sisters by feeding them ground glass in their food two years ago, ended another woman's life by giving her rat poisoning and recently tried to take the lives of eight other persons by giving them poison, was believed to have caused a reconciliation between her estranged mother and father.

Meanwhile physicians and surgeons are continuing their examination of the girl to determine whether they believe her weird confession or if it is simply a figment of her imagination. Among those making a study of the girl and her revolting narrative is Dr. Edwin H. Williams, well known alienist. Police are of the opinion that the child is an accomplished fictionist and scout her story.

However, the fact remains that the strange substance, supposedly a mixed solution of acid water from a storage battery and ant paste was found spread over the food for a meal in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Platt, with whom the child and her young sister have been boarders. It was the discovery of this solution in the food that led police investigation and subsequently taking the girl into custody.

Dr. Williams stated that in his opinion Alsa's story impresses him as being truthful and that she has probably the mind of a girl three or four years her senior. He also said she was possessed with too much intellect and not enough judgment and that her psychic energy has been wrongly directed.

In explaining her acts to the officers and her questioners the girl showed no sign of emotion and she said, she guessed she was "just bad."

The child's father, Russell G. Thompson, scoffed at his daughter's confession as being true. The mother was reported nearly hysterical and unable to make a statement.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC IN NOME UNABATED IN SPITE OF ARRIVAL OF ANTITOXIN

Physician in Stricken City Does not Believe Serum Hurt By Freezing—Want Extra Supply Sent By Airplane—Appeal To Governor

Nome, Alaska, Feb. 4.—Nome's diphtheria epidemic continued unabated today.

Dr. Curtis Welch's official statement showed twenty-nine cases today. There were thirty-one suspects and more than one hundred contacts.

There have been ten new cases in the last five days.

Dr. Welch is going ahead, using the antitoxin rushed here by dog team relays over nearly 700 miles of icy tundra with the presumption that its freezing enroute has not harmed it. He said he believed freezing had not taken away its force and that with the 300,000 units received Monday and the additional supplies on the way he would be able to make progress in the fight against the plague.

The state board of health appealed to Governor Scott C. Bone at Juneau to rush additional serum by airplane. They urged the governor to have an airplane dispatched here immediately and informed him that difficulties regarding a suitable landing place could be overcome by having the flyers land on the huge icefield just west of Nome in the Bering sea.

Members of the board said they feared the present supply would be exhausted before an airplane arrived now even if plans for hurrying the serum here were expedited.

Among the victims today was Sigfried Seppella, daughter of Leonard Seppella, the champion musher, winner of the Nome dog derby, who aided in bringing the serum here by dog teams. She was reported dangerously ill.

REV. G. S. MACAULAY ACCEPTS CALL TO CHURCH IN BOSTON

Word that the Rev. George S. Macaulay, of Philadelphia, Pa., former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, this city, has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Roxbury Presbyterian Church, in Boston, Mass., is of interest in Greene County.

The Roxbury congregation has been without a pastor since the death last October of the Rev. Clarence Young, who was well known here and has a number of local relatives.

The Rev. Mr. Young had attained a high scholarship and received the degrees of Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Divinity before his untimely death. He took the pastorate of the Roxbury Church in 1911 and built the church up until it enjoyed a large congregation.

Since the Rev. Mr. Macaulay's service overseas, he has served as pastor of the LaFayette Square Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md., and has recently been assistant pastor of the Bethany Presbyterian Church at Philadelphia, commonly known as "John Wanamaker's Church." He left that pastorate to accept the Roxbury call.

Greene Countians see a bond of friendship with the Roxbury congregation since a pastor to succeed the Rev. Mr. Young, was not called until the former Xenian's acceptance.

Because of the high standing which the Rev. Mr. Macaulay holds in this community, the best wishes of his many friends are extended in connection with his appointment.

AMPUTATION OF LEG MAY NOT NOW BE NECESSARY

Chicago Surgeons To Attempt Operation Under Poor Conditions

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 4.—Floyd Collins, cave explorer, imprisoned in a cave since Friday was freed from the boulder holding his foot this morning, but a slide in the opening between him and the mouth of the cave will stay his complete rescue several hours.

The slide came while Collins was alone and none of the rescuers were caught behind the rock.

Rescuers were unable to determine whether Collins' foot was crushed so that amputation would be necessary. He is in good physical condition and unless complications set in he may be able to retain the use of the foot held under the rock.

The information was given the rescuers by Collins, that his feet were free, but that he was too weak to force his way to the mouth.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 4.—Dr. W. H. Hazlett and Dr. Harold Jones, both of Chicago, arrived here this morning and left at once by airplane for Cave City, Ky., to attempt release of Floyd Collins, held prisoner in Sand Cave by a falling boulder by amputating his leg.

A second boulder has fallen on top of the one pinning Collins down, undoing all the work of drillers thus far and making rescue by means of other than amputation, absolutely impossible it was learned here today.

The light will be poor at best that afforded by flashlights and the narrowing of the passage prevents free arm movement.

"We are especially afraid of an excessive loss of blood on the patient's part," Dr. Hazlett said, "for the amputation will have to be made high, almost to the waist line. Collins, of course, is in a very weakened condition from his position and exposure. We are taking a number of most recently perfected hemostats, or hemostatic forceps to retard the blood flow when the knife severs large veins and arteries.

"It will be impossible to administer general anaesthetics, such as chloroform or ether, in the narrow confines of the cave, the operator also would be anaesthetized. For this reason we can only use local anaesthetics."

Some fear was expressed here that Dr. Hazlett would be unable to "squeeze" his way into the passage where Collins is held. Several rescuers have been unable to make their way through these passages and when volunteers have been asked for small men have been designated.

Dr. Hazlett is not a small man.

HAWKINS FURNISHES BAIL FOR RELEASE

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 4.—Morton S. Hawkins, of Portland, Ind. president of the Hawkins Mortgage Company, who has been in the Hamilton County jail for several weeks, late Tuesday furnished $30,000 bond and was released.

Hawkins is under indictment at Indianapolis on a charge of using the mails to defraud stock holders. Hawkins' application for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his removal to Indianapolis for trial was denied by U. S. District Judge Smith Hick-enlooper. Then Hawkins announced his intention to carry the case to the U. S. circuit court of appeals. He has been in jail because his bondsmen were unable to qualify until now.

HOUSE HAS ITS OWN BILL FOR INCREASE OF POSTAL WAGES

Washington, Feb. 3.—Having refused to accept the senate's postal legislation, the house today went ahead with a bill of its own to increase the postoffice employees by boosting postal rates.

The house postoffice committee is drawing the new bill, which is expected to raise $68,000,000, the amount of the proposed pay increase. Administration leaders have promised to give this bill right of way over all other legislation when it reaches the floor, probably before the end of the week.

Their efforts to bring out a bill more nearly in line with the views of President Coolidge were given impetus today by the statement from the White House that the president was prepared to veto the new bill if it provides for more expenditures than receipts.

This was the fate of the first postal pay increase bill and it is a contingency which congressional leaders wish to avoid for a second time.

There's whispering about a romance in the White House, since Miss Margaret Stemple, pretty Ohio Northern University student, of Ada, O., visited there. She and her mother were presented at a reception. There she met John Coolidge and the two became fast friends. The President's only surviving son took her for a long tour of inspection of the Mansion walls ushers searched for them.

SLAYING OF TOLEDO BOWLER IS SOLVED WITH TWO ARRESTS

Farmer Held for Murder and Widow of Slain Man as Witness

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—Mystery of the slaying of Willis Briggs, noted Toledo bowler, was completely solved, police announced today with the arrest of T. J. Irelan, Deerfield, Michigan, farmer, and Mrs. Bertha Briggs, widow of the slain man.

Charges of suspicion upon which the two are held without bail in the county jail, will be changed later in the day it was officially announced. Irelan, it was indicated, may be charged with murder, while Mrs. Briggs is held as a material witness.

Mrs. Briggs, police say, told them after she was taken into custody as her husband's body was being lowered into a grave, at Memorial Park Cemetery, late yesterday, that she was on an auto ride with Irelan, when her husband surprised them.

Irelan, married and father of five children, police say, admits the killing but said it was done in self defense.

BOY THREW PIPE—BUT IT WAS BOMB

Boston, Feb. 4.—Hundreds of pupils in two public schools were startled today by a bomb explosion in the south end.

A boy, cleaning the room of a man who had just died in a Warrenton Street lodging house, found a pipe shaped instrument and tossed it out of a window. It exploded with a roar.

Police and ambulances were rushed to Warrenton Street but no one was found to be injured.

An investigation was being made of the dead man's effects to learn if he were the maker of other bombs.

MAN CAPTIVE IN KENTUCKY CAVE MAKES PEACE WITH GOD AND IS READY FOR DEATH

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 4.—Floyd Collins today was reconciled to death as a possible release from his long imprisonment in Sand Cave, where a boulder pinning his foot, has held him fast more than five days. But the mine crew pushing the rescue work in the cramped tunnel where the cave explorer was caught, held hope that he might be released.

This morning the mine crew had again cleared the sand and stone from Collins' body down as far as his shoetops and planned to drill a hole in the large stone which holds his foot in a crevice.

The work is laborious.

He is caught in a small passage way about the size of a sugar barrel above a pit eighty feet deep. The entrance to the passage from the surface is barely large enough to permit a small man to squeeze through, and back through this must be brought the sand and stones which slide down the passage and pile about the prisoner.

The stone which holds his foot

WILL FRIDAY SEE END OF WORLD?

Reformed Seventh Day Adventists Say "Yes"—Evangelist Here Says "No."

Dr. George Hugh Birney, evangelist, who is conducting a series of union services at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, laughed Wednesday as he refuted the report that the world will come to an end Friday, as prophesied by the Reformed Seventh Day Adventists in Cleveland.

"While I believe in a certain second coming of Jesus, no man knoweth the time and the season, not even the Son, Himself, only the Lord knoweth," said Dr. Birney, quoting the Bible.

"The very fact that these people claim to know the time and place would indicate that they do not know. We are told to watch and pray, and not to look for His coming, because no one will know."

"Those who undertake to point out contradictions of scripture are in direct violation of the spirit of the thing."

The Reformed Seventh Day Adventists are not the first to predict the nearest of the end of the world. Back in 1843, New England farmers by the thousands were similarly deluded by those convinced by reading certain phrases in the Book of Daniel, that the second coming of Christ was close at hand.

William Miller, a farmer, of Low Hampton, N. Y., preached this belief by reading the book and his followers gained the sobriquet of "Millerites."

The substance of his preachings, which were of a character that influenced others to like beliefs, were that judgment day was at hand, the world would be entirely consumed by a devastating fire burning all wicked persons up with it, while the good would be spared and be gathered up to heaven.

This prophecy spread through the towns and rural communities like wild fire and finally many people in Boston, New York and other Eastern cities reconciled to the nearness of the end.

April 1843, was first announced as the date of the second coming of the Son of the Lord, but as nothing occurred to fulfill this belief, the time was changed to October for the end of the world. As October approached, "Millerites" began to prepare for the end.

Ascension robes were a thing necessary and to be had at any cost. Many gave away all their worldly possessions, and when the stated day came, many ascended to the housetops or to the uppermost tops of the trees in their robes while others, took to the hilly country. A comet visible in that year, was taken as a sure omen of the expected end.

Panic resulted when the day of reckoning passed with nothing out of the ordinary occurring. A few people recovered their property but the majority became inmates of insane asylums.

During the following excitement, speakers preaching the second coming sprung up from everywhere, and speeches were even carried into the House of Representatives, at Washington. Newspapers of the day gave the incident much notoriety.

SPRINGFIELD MAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

William Ball, 30, Springfield, O., retired Pennsylvania Railroad engineer, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Juenger, 231 East College Avenue, Springfield, Monday after a short illness, from kidney trouble.

Mr. Ball was a Pennsylvania Railroad engineer on the Springfield division for forty-six years.

He is survived by one son, John Ball, of Hallett, Ind.

His wife formerly Alice Thompson of Xenia, preceded her husband in death twenty-three years.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Raphael Church, Springfield and burial was made in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

LACK OF HOME LIFE CAUSE OF WAYWARD YOUTH SAYS JUDGE

"No group has a more vital touch with the school than the Parent-Teachers Association and all parents should belong to this organization," declared Judge S. C. Wright in address before the Orient Hill P. T. A. Monday afternoon.

"The Juvenile Court touches the school through the truant officer and through the neglected and dependent child," he said. "The court's aim is to try and rescue boys and girls where ever possible and only as a last resort are they sent to the reform schools. The court tries to find some way in which to help and start these boys and girls over again. If there were no bad homes there would be no bad boys or girls," he declared.

"All the cases handled by the court are children whose parents do not go to church and the children do not attend Sunday School and the improper direction and lack of encouragement of parents leads to their wrong-doing. Something must be done to make these parents see and assume their responsibility."

Judge Wright urged that teachers and parents teach their children that "labor is dignity" and that it is a disgrace to be idle. He also urged them to teach honesty and asked members of the P. T. A. to be a friend to boys and girls. He closed his address by repeating the poem, "The House By The Side Of The Road."

C. A. Waltz, city superintendent of schools, addressed the body on "The Importance of Education." He said "no teacher nor parent can succeed unless he or she loves the child, and we would have no teacher in the schools who does not love children. A town is judged by the efficiency of the schools and a setback in education would be a set-back to civilization. "Therefore education must stand," declared Superintendent Waltz. "Education turns back into the world seventeen times more than the world puts into education. No other profession demands as much as the profession of teaching. A teacher has to have the highest moral standards and study all the time."

The meeting was featured by a good attendance. The secretary read a letter from the Federated Parent-Teacher Association of the city, thanking the Orient Hill organization for its share in "putting across" the district convention held in Xenia last week.

The success of the convention lay in the united efforts of the local organizations, officials say.

The treasurer reported $49 in the bank. The association has furnished instruments and music for an orchestra in the school. Miss Harriett McCarty is directing the orchestra.

Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Mrs. S. G. Spahr were appointed to investigate needy children in the school and make the necessary provisions for them. Mrs. James Canaday and Mrs. Charles Cross were named to meet with the Social Service League Board the first Monday in each month.

The social committee served tea with Valentine Day appointments after the program of the afternoon.

New Easy Way To End NASAL CATARRH

Quick and sure; safe and no trouble—the new way to get rid of loathsome Catarrh in nose and throat.

It may be acute or it may be chronic—of years standing—you may have tried salves and ointments and other treatments.

You're probably disgusted and think you haven't a chance in the world of overcoming it.

Try once more—try this. Get a six ounce bottle of Kojene for 60 cents at Sayre and Hemphill or any progressive druggist. Spray the nostrils with it twice a day for three or four days or until every Catarrh germ is destroyed and the nose is clean and clear.

Try once more and get rid of this obnoxious disease. Kojene will do it. If by any mishap it fails your money will be gladly returned.

Kojene is the world's most powerful non-poisonous antiseptic—seventy-five times as strong as highly flavored antiseptics—yet you can drink it with no ill effects.

If it won't conquer nasal catarrh and clean out every trace of mucous and soreness nothing will.—Adv.

THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Success depends primarily on a healthy liver and stomach. You can not think straight if these organs are not working properly. May's Wonderful Remedy is usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. At all druggists.

There's Real Medicine Now For Stubborn Hang-On Coughs

When nothing seems to do that lingering, bothersome cough any good just go to Sayre & Hemphill's and get a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion.

Take it as directed and notice how easily it overcomes that persistent cough that has caused you many sleepless nights.

It's a medicine compounded for the purpose of conquering tough, hang-on coughs, and that's exactly what it does—quickly and thoroughly. There is no dope in Broncholine Emulsion, no chloroform, no sugar—such things are only makeshifts and should be taken with the greatest caution.

For ordinary simple coughs two or three doses of Broncholine Emulsion is usually enough.

Sayre and Hemphill and dealers everywhere can supply you.—Adv.

HOLD COUNCIL MEETING ON TUESDAY EVENING

The Men's Council of the First Lutheran Church this city met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kohl, North King Street, Tuesday evening. Plans were made for a re-dedication of the church on the completion of the interior decorating in March. A report on the work in the church showed that the plans for the new kitchen were nearing completion and that the kitchen would be ready for use in the near future. For the re-dedication, notices and letters have been sent to members of the Church, their families and friends to join in the Home-Coming.

Mrs. Kohl had issued an invitation to the wives of the men to enjoy a few games. Prize winners were Mrs. R. Farrington of Portsmouth and Mrs. F. F. Filson. At a late hour the hostess served a delicious two course luncheon.

Out of town guests at the affair were the Rev. W. H. Naffziger, of Springfield, pastor of the Lutheran Church this city and Mr. and Mrs. Barrington of Portsmouth.

PENNSYLVANIA WOMEN FORM ORGANIZATION

Mothers, wives and sisters of employees and women employed on the Cincinnati Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, formed an organization at the open meeting held in the basement of the Court House, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. E. Laycock was elected secretary of the organization and Mrs. Walter Owens was elected treasurer. Mrs. J. E. Daly, chairman of the women's organization of this division, presided at the meeting.

Plans were made for a party February 23 at the Knights of Pythias Hall. Each meeting of the organization hereafter will be of a social nature.

A business meeting will be held on the last Tuesday of each month, it was planned.

XENIAN ATTENDANT AT WEDDING SATURDAY

Mr. Leroy Gaddis, of Xenia, was one of the attendants at the marriage of Mr. Estel Manker and Miss Leola Shoolley, at Martinsville, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Elsie Lauter of Russellville, was the bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. S. Townsend. Dinner was served for members of the bridal party and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Schooley.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN AS FAREWELL

The Misses Mary Tate and Muriel Abbing were hostesses at a surprise party, honoring Miss Alberta Richards, who is moving this week to Cincinnati, Tuesday evening. Fourteen boys and girls met at the home of Miss Mary Tate and enjoyed the evening with music and games. A refreshment course was served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hughes of this city spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Pidgeon, and family near Wilmington.

Mrs. Emma Michener of Xenia and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Barnes of Alpha, were guests of Mrs. W. S. Adams, near Wilmington Sunday. Mrs. Adams has been seriously ill and Mrs. Michener remained for a few days visit with her sister.

George McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McKay, West Third Street, underwent an operation at the McCallan Hospital, Wednesday morning. His condition is favorable.

On account of the continued illness of Mrs. Charlotte Reeves Conover, at her home in Dayton, the regular lecture by Mrs. Conover at the First Baptist Church, Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be postponed until next week. It is announced. Mrs. Conover is recovering from her illness but is not able to appear before audiences.

EAST END NEWS MRS. JAMES HARRIS Correspondent TEL. 91-R

Mrs. Ida Washington, of East Market Street, is very ill with neuritis of the heart.

Mr. John Williams of 735 East Second Street is confined indoors with grip.

Mrs. Viola Hubbard, East Church Street, received word Monday announcing the death of a relative, Rev. Degrester of New York. He will be remembered as a visitor here last summer. Rev. Anderson, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church, Dayton, was called to preach the funeral discourse.

Mrs. Jennie Granville, of Cincinnati was called here on account of the illness of her brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Granville.

Mrs. Marie Knight of East Main Street, is among the sick this week.

What might have been a serious accident was averted Tuesday morning at six-thirty o'clock when Mrs. Eula Kennedy was struck by a machine driven by Bennie Lowe.

Mrs. Kennedy, realizing that it was impossible to get out of the way of the on-coming machine turned her back to it and jumped into the air just as she was struck coming down on the bumper of the car and being carried several feet before the car was stopped.

Mr. Lowe says his vision was obstructed by a machine that was being driven on the wrong side of the street by Ernest Haines.

Mrs. Kennedy did not think she was hurt but about two hours later began to suffer severely from the jar she had received, although the physician thinks there will be no serious results.

Third M. E. Church—The spiritual feet is now spread and you are missing it all by your non-attendance. Rev. Mrs. Bertha Smith is in charge. This lady is a most wonderful preacher and songster. It is a treat to hear her. Come and be blessed. G. L. Sheppard.

W. M. LAURENS DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME EARLY WEDNESDAY

Walter Martin Laurens, 53, died at his home on the Peterson Road, Wednesday morning about 5 o'clock. Death was sudden although he had been subject to neuralgia of the heart for about two years.

Late Tuesday evening Mr. Laurens complained of a sharp pain in his chest and Wednesday morning was sitting in a chair before the fire with his head resting on the back of the chair when the end came. Death was caused by angina-pectoris, an neuralgia of the heart.

Mr. Laurens is survived by his widow and one daughter, Freda, at home, and his mother, Mrs. Josephine Laurens, of Hill Street. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. William Lackey, Cedarville; Mrs. John Turner, Cedarville; Mrs. Harry Baifman, Troy, Ohio; Mrs. William Betts, Troy; John C. Laurens, Sharonville, Ohio; Lee Laurens, New Burlington; Edward Laurens, Wilmington; William Laurens, Fairground Road; James Laurens, south of Xenia, and Miss Olive Laurens, who lives with her mother.

On December 3, 1890, he married Miss Emma Hamer. He was the son of Augustus Laurens who preceded him in death many years.

Funeral services will be held at the home on the Peterson Road Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

LIEUTENANT ROY MENDENHALL MADE NEW FIRE CAPTAIN

Lieutenant Roy Mendenhall of the Xenia Fire Department has been promoted to captain by City Manager S. O. Hale to succeed Captain Glen Rayburn, who died last week.

The promotion was made effective February 1. William Hanifan, fireman, was elected by his comrades to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Captain Mendenhall.

The position of lieutenant was created two years ago by agreement of firemen as an honorary office and in order to provide an officer in charge should the chief and captain both be absent. It carries no increase in salary.

GARVER ASKS FOR INJUNCTION TO PREVENT INVESTIGATION OF HOME

Columbus, Feb. 4.—Application of Sylvius Garver for a writ to stop the senate probe of conditions at the home was denied today by the supreme court. The probe starts tomorrow as scheduled at Xenia.

Columbus, Feb. 4.—Sylvius Garver, superintendent of the Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' Home, Xenia, today asked the state supreme court for a temporary writ prohibition investigation of the home, as ordered by the senate, which was to have opened at Xenia tomorrow.

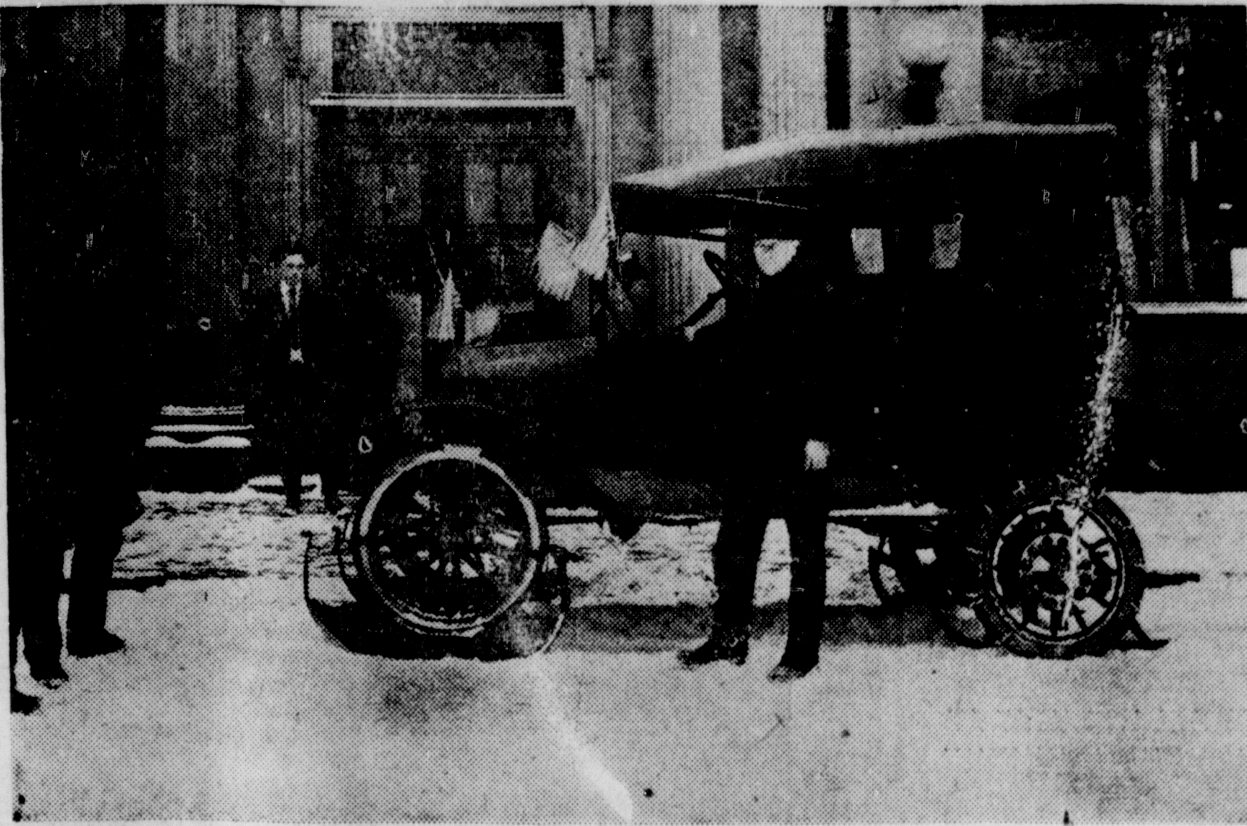

Marcus Shoup, Xenia attorney filed the suit for Garver. Garver declared the senate, as a body, without the joint action of the house, is not authorized to conduct such an investigation as planned. He cited in support of his contention the decision of the court in the Drake investigation of city government in Cincinnati, in which the court ruled that "the constitution contains no express grant of power to either branch of the general assembly to appoint a select committee for general legislative purposes."

Attorney Donald V. Parker, special counsel, was expected to appear for the committee before the court and oppose the application. The court is expected to hear the case today.

A decision will probably be announced before night, it was announced. The committee was to have left here tonight for Xenia.

AUTO SLED INVENTED BY XENIAN IS NEW TRAVEL METHOD

F. A. KLEIN AND AUTO SLED. Francis A. Klein of this city is inventor of an "auto-sled," a novel means of locomotion, which attracted considerable attention when driven about the streets here last week.

The invention is a system of sled runners to be fastened on any make of automobile, so that the machine skids along on runners when there is sufficient snow or may be converted back into an ordinary automobile if there is no snow.

Mr. Klein has applied for patents on the invention, and believes it has a particularly popular field in sections of the country where snow is on the ground at least half the year. The invention consists of a pair of sled runners on which the front wheels are mounted so that they do not touch the ground at all.

Another pair of runners are under the rear of the machine adjusted so that they divide the weight of the rear of the car equally with the rear wheels. Enough of the rear wheels touch the street however, to provide traction, and the machine runs by the usual means of locomotion.

On a disc around the rear wheel hubs, are a number of sleigh bells which help carry out the sleigh atmosphere when the "auto-sled" is in motion. Action of the sled runners takes up the bumps in the highway, so that riding in the "auto-sled" has the same gliding sensation as traveling in a sleigh.

The machine may make all the speed of which it is capable, since the runners do not retard movement. In case there is no snow, the front

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of "Epsom Salts"; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

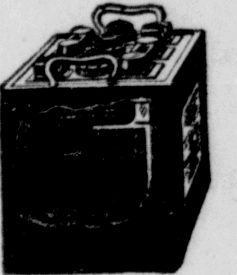

runners can be removed quickly, and the rear runners may be raised so that there is no contact with the street, without removing them.

The idea was evolved from an original idea for applying sled runners to wheel vehicles conceived by Mr. Klein many years ago. Two years ago he put the idea to practical test by constructing the present runners, but never gave the invention publicity. In the meantime however, he applied for patent papers.

The recent snow tempted the inventor to give the invention a trial, and its appearance on the streets was greeted by throngs of the curious. Use of the "auto-sled" here has proven that the idea is practicable and Mr. Klein believes the application of sled runners to automobiles will be in effect during the snowy season.

The picture shows the "auto-sled" as applied to a Ford touring car, with the inventor standing by its side. William Gillman, shown at the left, and Edward Lambert, have been demonstrating the odd invention.

BY ONE WHO WAS THERE

We see that a woman in Springfield, Mass., was butted into the middle of next week, if not actually farther, by a ram not long ago, and, as soon as she recovered her faculties, sued the owner of the creature for $10,000, and got it and, perhaps the younger neighbor girl, who just loves pets, will concede now that we knew best when we advised her so strongly not to bring over from his birthplace in West Jefferson that cunning little lamb named Edward Quentin, who probably would have been big enough by this time to cost her $10,000 for operating on us alone.—Ohio State Journal. Bob is about right about that. We prefer to have a strong fence between us and the tamest ram that ever existed. We know their playful ways.—Versailles Policy.

THE NEW FREEDOM

Mud—mud—mud—the streets are liquid, flowing; ladies trailing dresses—Oh, how nice—all bedraggled, yet sweeping still. Oh, Fashion, thou fickle tyrant! How cruel to impose thus upon thy fair votaries!—Ohio State Journal, Jan. 8, 1862.

Oh! answers echo. They trailed 63 years ago. They trailed and were bedraggled through many succeeding years. But they are not trailing now, not by several inches. Fashion is less the tyrant. Angles have stepped into the era of freedom. Their shackles have been loosed and kicked off. All hail 'em!—Toledo Blade.

SLEEP

Anderson Fry, who is a student at Marshall College, has made the revolutionary announcement, according to the news columns, that ninety minutes of sleep a day are sufficient for anyone.

Now not being versed in medical matters, we do not propose to argue with young Mr. Fry, who has been following that practice for five years and should know what he is talking about.

We merely call his attention to a piece of machinery, which, having been operated for several hours, must be stopped, thoroughly gone over by the machinist and oiled, if it is expected to continue to do its task efficiently.

Now the human body is a machine, working systematically but subject to the common ills. Like a storage battery which runs down in constant use, but is kept up to full charge if only called upon for service part of the time, the human body will always be ready to function properly if there is a sufficient period of relaxation when the used cells may re-charge themselves and overworked muscles may drop their tension.

This re-charging cannot be accomplished in ninety minutes. No inventor has yet designed a perpetual motion machine, and we believe that young Mr. Fry, in his proximity to perpetual motion, is lopping years off his life.

JAPAN

The philosophy of Japan and the Orient is ancient and probably has something to do with "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth."

Japan is considering the enactment of a law forbidding the ownership of land in Japan by foreigners except under a reciprocal agreement under which Japanese may own land in the country to which they give permission.

The act may cause a tense diplomatic situation between Japan and the United States for the reason that certain states in this country forbid Japanese to own land within their confines. Under the provisions of an amendment proposed to the new law, however, residents of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, Alaska and the District of Columbia would be barred from land ownership in Japan.

The act seems to be a move to pay back kind for kind, and we can not feel altogether unsympathetic with the Japanese viewpoint. If these states, by a vote of their citizens, have forbidden Japanese to own land, then they should accept Japan's similar ultimatum in the same manner they would have their own accepted.

Certainly they should not be the means of involving the nation in what might be a serious diplomatic controversy because they adopt the policy of refusing to accede in Japan to a legislative move which they themselves inaugurated.

WHEN BILL GOES BORROWING

When Bill goes out a-borrowing a gentleman is he,
He never tries with churlish frowns to win your sympathy;
He's filled with good intentions and his promises are fair,
When Bill is after money he has flattery to spare;
He asks about your people and his love to them he'll send,
When Bill goes out a-borrowing you're sure to be his friend.

When Bill goes out a-borrowing he's never rough nor rude,
But in a gentle voice he vows undying gratitude;
If to his sorry tale of woe you lend a willing ear,
For just a day or two he'll sound your praises far and near;
When Bill goes out a-borrowing, his finest side he shows,
But he's a different fellow when you ask him for what he owes.

gracious as can be,
But when the day for payment comes another man is he;
For when you ask him to return what you were glad to lend,
He makes it very plain to all you've ceased to be his friend;
And if insistent you become, he'll grumble there and then
That for the sake of money you'd oppress your fellow men.

And yet I keep my love for Bill, because, I understand
The borrower must always be both courteous and bland
Whenever men or nations go a-borrowing you'll find
They wear their best behavior—and they leave their worst behind;
All borrowers are pleasant when you lend them what they lack, canopy so that the gathers ran across, and more white marquisette was festooned in a valance completely around the edges of the canopy, falling down to the depth of perhaps a foot, and edged with a heavy white fringe. The highest points of this festooning (that is, where the material was looped up) were decorated with rosettes of the same material. The general effect of this all-white bed was startlingly dainty. Upon inquiry I learned that the marquisette cost $1.50 a yard—not too high a price for one to pay for such a satisfying result. The window overdrapes in this room were also, most original; they were made of green-striped silk taffeta which fell to the floor and were looped back by bands of the same material. An inch-wide slip of the goods, box-pleated, edged the inside of the curtains and the lower part of the band which looped them back.
But most of them resent it when they're asked to pay it back.

I recently visited a "model suite of rooms" in department store which was furnished in Colonial style. It was a work of art. The Colonial effect was carried out to the minutest detail.

In the Living Room were the usual pieces—the old-time "sofa" which in grandmother's day was often covered with horsehair (this one, however, had a green-and-tan striped cover); a mahogany table, Chippendale sewing table, beautiful old chairs—in fact, the usual "parlor" furniture of that day.

In the Dining Room I was impressed with the flat "squa" seat pads on the rattan bottom chairs. These were made of black satin demask lined with plain black cotton material, and bound around the edge with a cheerful-looking red cord. (Tapes at the corners of these seat-pads tied the cushion to the legs of the chairs.) Another original note was struck in the window overdrapes of expensive gold damask, which had brass rings sewed to the under side, about two feet from the top, through which ran a cord by which the curtains could be gracefully looped back. The furniture consisted of the usual dining room pieces in Colonial style (I am merely trying to mention the original notes in the rooms.)

In the Bedroom I found the most unusual decorative idea in the entire "house": An old field bed had been used (with four high posts and a skeleton-like canopy of wood arched over it). An old-fashioned white coverlet covered the mattress, but the pillows were bare, save for their white linen slips. White marquisette in a wide mesh had been gathered fully across the top of the

Never Kiss

A person with a cold

Colds are spread by kissing, by sneezing and by coughs. Beware of those germs. Be careful if you have them—avoid them if you haven't.

A cold means danger and discomfort. Nobody knows what the end will be. Millions are wrecked by colds.

Yet a cold can be broken in 24 hours. The fever and headache will end, and La Grippe can be stopped in 3 days. It is folly to suffer colds, and compel others to avoid you.

The way is with Hill's Cascara-Quinine. Quinine. It is so sure that every druggist guarantees it. So reliable that millions of homes have adopted it. So perfect that 25 years have developed no way to improve it. It does all that is necessary. It checks the cold. It removes the poisons caused by colds. It tones the entire system with two tons of high order. It restores vitality. This is the best way to do it. Your own neighbors know it. Millions have come to laugh at colds, because they know what Hill's does.

Once you use Hill's tablets you will always use them to fight colds. You will insist on the genuine, and won't delay. Every hour lost at the start means more hours of discomfort. Until the world finds something better, use Hill's to check colds.

Today's Talks

We rent life. We do not own it. We pay high rent when we give all we are so that we may rank highest in all to which we aspire.

It takes earning capacity to buy a beautiful home where high rent is the penalty.

It is so with success, happiness, and artistic achievement. We have to pay with our very souls for the fine fragrance of greatness. And when it is all boiled down you see at the bottom the clear crystals of disappointment, suffering, privation. And the glitter from these crystals reflects sweet rays of approval for all that has been lost.

This is one of the reasons why honest eulogy should be given while people breathe and walk around on the streets—and need it.

A man himself is able to measure his own compensations and be content in his heart, but how his entire inner life aches for approval for appreciation, for understanding while yet he is a human being in form and substance the same as those with whom he tarries day by day. People should be praised while they work and can bear. I have never known anyone who didn't work better or become happier just the moment that some one threw praise his way.

Eulogies over people who have gone are helpful in but one way: to shame us for not saying kind things about those who remain, or for not saying them to the one to whom they are directed while he was here with us.

It is quite possible to overpraise one who is not big enough to handle it, but it is always possible to harm and discourage by giving no praise at all.

Often unworthily praised people finally measure up to over praise. A human being grows tremendously through the belief of others.

The biggest value in a winter car for the family

The Ford Sedan provides room for the whole family. Yet it is a light, easily handled car—the kind you want for the months of changeable weather and difficult driving conditions.

It is fitted with carpet and curtains that harmonize with the color tones of the two wide, deeply upholstered seats. It enables you to keep comfortably warm, yet have plenty of fresh air since the Ford Sedan is equipped with Cowl Ventilator and windows that lower by revolving regulators.

You cannot own a car that offers you better value or more widely useful service. And the greater economy of operating a Ford lends emphasis to the practical worth of this car to you.

CHRIST CRUCIFIED AGAIN BY THOSE WHO REJECT HIM EVANGELIST TELLS LISTENERS

"The Unforgivable Sin" was the evangelist's theme Tuesday night, before a great audience at the union meetings being held at the First Methodist Church.

The evangelist led his hearers to Calvary and graphically described the death of Jesus upon the cross. "The sin that damns a soul is the sin of rejection, for all other sins are gathered up and expressed in that act. The cross stands for all that God could do in redemption, and he rejected the whole plan of salvation when we reject Jesus. By that rejection we become guilty of Jesus' death as really as if our own hands had nailed his body to the cross."

Then the text was announced, "Seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put Him in an open shame," Heb. 6:6.

"It is difficult for the modern mind to grasp this conception of sin," said Dr. Birney, "because we have associated sin with its overt acts almost exclusively. It is easy for us to think of sin in relation to the drunkard and the libertine and the murderer and the adulterer, but more difficult to think of sin in relation to the respectable and the prosperous and the socially prominent. We can easily see why the harlot and the thief should know condemnation, but how about those who live on the Avenue and write their checks for charity, and keep within the letter of the moral code? What I want to say is this: that in God's sight, they are all alike so long as they all reject the Saviorhood of Jesus Christ, because the sin that damns is just that. By rejecting Him we crucify Him afresh, and shame Him again, saying, 'His blood be upon us, and upon our children.' We appropriate to ourselves the condemnation of the cross."

"If you are keeping Jesus out of your life tonight, you are as guilty of His death as if you had been in the mob long ago that led Him to Calvary. And, by the same token, you would have been one of those who then cried, 'Away with Him, away with Him, we will not have this man rule over us—away with Him, crucify Him, crucify Him!'"

"Jesus was not only crucified nineteen hundred years ago, but He has been crucified today in Xenia, by those who have turned away from Him. This is the sin that damns. No sin is black enough, or horrible enough, or eternal enough to damp forever, save the malignant, hateful, vengeful sin of crucifying to ourselves the Son of God afresh! And every rejection means just that.

In closing the evangelist described the three groups surrounding the cross—the mob, the disciples who stood afar off, and the smaller group standing near by. "These three groups are found in Xenia today," he said, "and they are as clearly defined as when they stood upon the darkened brow of that first Calvary."

"To which group do you belong, O my friend tonight? Service, salvation, all hang upon your answer to what you are doing with Jesus. All the sin of the world is gathered up and expressed in the sin of rejection which is the sin which damns forever. If you go out of life with the blood of that sin upon your heart you will meet God as the murderers of His Son. The only unforgivable sin is that final rejection which leave no place for mercy beyond the grave. And so wonderful is the love of God, that His mercy will follow you to the very gates of death, pleading, pleading, pleading, is your rejection last tonight? Are you going into eternity with the same grim-lipped defiance, the same stubborn, unrelenting hate of unsundered will? If so, there remaineth no...

more a sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful expectation of Judgment," Heb. 10:26.

Dr. Birney's subject Wednesday night will be "The Marks of Heaven and Hell."

The largest crowd yet was present Tuesday night, and the Sunday School room of the church had to be opened. Trinity church orchestra gave two fine numbers, much to the delight of the large audience. Several ministers of the city occupied places on the platform. Rev. A. J. Kestle, of Bellefontaine, and his family were present. Dr. Birney recently held a meeting in Bellefontaine. A number of Sunday School classes from both Trinity and First Churches attended in bodies. As they were announced by Dr. Stanton, they were greeted with applause. Each morning from 9 to 9:30 is observed as prayer hour, and many at this time are engaged in earnest prayer for the success of the meetings.

Wednesday night is "Community Night." The Women's Bible Class of First Church will attend in a body. Other delegations are expected. Dr. Birney will give a short prelude to his regular sermon Wednesday evening, in connection with the prediction by some that the end of the world will occur February 6.

Thursday night will be "Young People's Night," and a delegation from the High School and grades are expected. Dr. Birney will speak upon the subject: "The Suicide of the Soul."

Thursday afternoon the theme will be, "Prayer—A Love Attitude."

INTERESTING TRIP SUBJECT OF TALK

W. Crawford Craig gave a graphic description of a trip he made at the close of the World War from Halifax to Trinidad and the West Indies, at the Xenia Kiwanis Club meeting at the Elks' Club, Tuesday night.

Mr. Craig told of each step of his trip and gave interesting history in connection with the islands and the country he visited. He spent several months in Trinidad and was able to give a complete history of the locality.

His talk was the main feature of the program following dinner. The Kiwanians were asked to help in finding a scoutmaster for Troop Two. Boy Scouts of Xenia. R. H. Kingsbury is acting as scoutmaster until a successor can be appointed and he will then confine his work to Troop One.

REFUSES OFFER

Shanghai, Feb. 4.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, southern China dictator, today refused the suggestion that he leave the American Rockefeller Hospital where he is critically ill, to give old style doctors a chance to cure him. He said he would remain and accept radium treatments from American physicians as a palliative measure.

BISHOP REESE TO CONFIRM CLASS AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Rt. Rev. Theodore Irving Reese, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, will take charge of the services next Sunday morning at Christ Episcopal Church, this city.

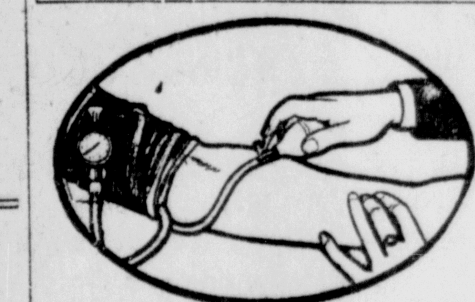

An interesting part of the services will be the administration of confirmation rites to a class of young people, who have been preparing themselves for several weeks.

Bishop Reese will also preach the sermon, bringing an inspiring human message from his long experience as pastor and executive in the church. His coming at this time is particularly interesting due to the fact that he will be the next head of the diocese should the recent resignation of Bishop Boyd Vincent, who is desirous of retiring from active charge, be accepted.

DEBRIS LEFT AFTER WRECK IS CLEARED

Wreckage caused when fifteen freight cars on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad left the track two miles east of Xenia early Saturday morning, has been practically cleared up and traffic is back to normal on the line.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail, trainmen say. The cars that left the track were in the center of a heavy west-bound freight train. Thirteen of the cars which were wrecked

— to have a good APPETITE!

"Yes! thank you."

A GOOD appetite means a cheerful disposition.

You may have a good appetite if the blood that goes constantly to your vital organs is pure. S.S.S. purifies the blood—a good appetite follows and you will have a clear complexion and will be strong, cheerful and healthy.

Don't go on feeling up one day and down the next—hardly sick but never well—losing "pep," punch and ambition. Hearty eaters are the red-blooded men and women. Enjoy your food! Get back your strength and energy! Reclaim yourself before it is too late! People in a physically run-down condition are an easy prey to disease.

S.S.S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. Your blood-cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. S.S.S. aids Nature in supplying new red-blood-cells—the spark that renews your system. Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S.S.S.—the great blood purifier which gives Nature a helping hand.

Get back the lost appetite, the missing vitality, the keen, sparkling eyes, that look of determination. S.S.S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

COURT NEWS

WIFE SUES THIS TIME

Charging gross neglect of duty, Mary P. Flesher has filed suit for divorce from Malcolm D. Flesher in Common Pleas Court. The couple was married March 2, 1916 and has two children, Anita and Henry.

Flesher shot and severely wounded Alva Chaney, 38, Hartford City, Ind., who was a boarder at the Flesher home in Osborn and whom Flesher suspected of intimacy with his wife, last August 19, it is said.

A charge of shooting with intent to kill was placed against Flesher and he was released under $1,000 bond, after being bound over to the Grand Jury. The case was later dismissed in Common Pleas Court.

Two days after the shooting, Flesher filed suit for divorce from his wife charging infidelity but by October 1, nearly two months afterward, a reconciliation was effected and the case dismissed.

Chaney eventually recovered from his wounds.

CONVENTION SKED
Columbus, Feb. 4—Convention dates here this month include: Feb. 8 and 9, forty-sixth annual meeting, Ohio Engineering Society; Feb. 10-13, annual convention Ohio Hardware Men's Association; Feb. 23-25, Ohio Retail Clothiers' and Furniture Dealers' Association.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Readily and cheaply made at home,
but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Two years ago this week, Emil Coue, the famous French Doctor, landed in the U. S. He hadn't been here a week until practically everybody was talking about him. And so it is with the LAUREL line.

COLLINS and HARLAN

Collins and Harlan, famous for their entertaining the country over, will appear in a specially selected program.

This appearance of these favorite artists constitutes the musical event of the season. The assisting artist is William Reed, flutist.

What makes this concert of more than usual importance, are several numbers in which Collins and Harlan will compare their singing with its RE-CREATION by Mr. Edison's new phonograph.

Tomorrow Evening February 5th
at 8:15 P. M.

High School Auditorium

Admittance by card of introduction only. We shall be glad to issue these to music-lovers who apply, in order of application. Call, write, or telephone.

Charles Ray's Greatest Achievement

The Courtship of Myles Standish

Nine months in the making. Cost more than $800,000 to produce. Eighty-seven name parts. The film classic of the age. Romantic coloring. The deeds and days of the Pilgrims produced amid thrills and realism. The epic poem transplanted to the screen in stupendous fascinating scenes complete in every detail. The love story irresistible. The picture that should live forever.

—The Story—

History and literature have handed down no greater or more famous love story than that written by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in his immortal poem, "The Courtship of Myles Standish." Brought to the screen, it presents Charles Ray in his greatest role. He displays rare and consummate skill, true genius and personality in the characterization of the dashing young Pilgrim adventurer, John Alden, who faces a thousand deaths courageously, but can't speak his love for the beautiful maiden, Priscilla Mullins. The picture will live forever.

Granger Rough Cut

The most remarkable tobacco ever offered to pipe smokers
—in quality, in value, in taste

Back about 1870, James N. Wellman developed a secret tobacco process which won instant and widespread favor. It yielded a fuller-bodied richness, mildness and fragrance which just seemed to "go" with a pipe. No one else ever knew his secret until we acquired "Wellman's Method" and by its means made "Granger Rough Cut".

REYNOLDS RETAINS TITLE WHEN NO MATCH IS DECLARED AFTER KILONIS MEETING

Jack Reynolds, world's welterweight champion still retains the crown although the contest with Harry Kilonis of Columbus Tuesday night resulted in him losing on a foul to the Greek.

The referee also gave another decision when he tapped the champ slightly on the back signifying he won. Therefore Referee Krumles gave two decisions neither agreeing with other so both contestants, referee, judges and the Eagles wrestling committee got together after the bout was over and decided it would be termed as no contest. The men are matched for a return-go on Tuesday March 3 at Eagles Hall.

Kilonis gave the champion a fine run for his money and had the Indianapolis man in some mighty tight places. He won the first fall in four minutes with a double toe-hold which forced Reynolds to give up.

Reynolds made a nice comeback and after working about nine minutes he got the much dreaded leg split on the Columbus mat man forcing him to give up and making a third fall necessary.

Reynolds came within an ace of winning the bout shortly after the third fall had gotten under way when he got a crotch hold but Kilonis wriggled free and got a headlock which the champ broke. He got a body scissors which caused Kilonis much pain but he got a toe-hold and several minutes later both grips were broken and the men rolled off the mat. The men then took standing positions and traded grips fast. Kilonis then asked for time to tie his shoe. After he had finished and was coming to a standing position Reynolds got a crotch and headlock on him and slammed him to the mat. The referee tapped the champ on the back and he thinking he had won left the ring. Krumles then announced that Kilonis had won on a foul which was disputed later.

While the match lasted it was fast and furious and one of the best seen at the hall to date. Kilonis gave the champion more of a tussle than Gats-on did and his work pleased the fans. Reynolds showed nice form and is a bit more clever than the Greek grappler.

Two prelims were staged that proved exciting and fast. In the first one Speezy Crawford, colored welter of this city beat Herman Greene also of this city in twelve minutes with an arm lock. The bout was fast and rough from the start but after five minutes of tussling both boys got things easy. Greene did not seem to be in the best of shape.

Gene Wead of this city triumphed over Pete Jacoby of this city in just time, the time being six minutes. Wead looked good and was very strong. He won with a wrist lock. The bout was fast and a clean affair.

Bowling Results

Lawrence Purdom, substituting for Wooley on the Bayliff "5", chalked up a new high single game score for other league pin shooters to point for in the final game between the Kiwanis and Bayliff bowling teams Tuesday night.

Six straight strikes in his final five frames, enabled him to score 228 or two pins better than the previous high single score made in league competition.

Purdom's high score enabled the Bayliffs to take the final game from the Kiwanis by 103 pins, 843 to 740.
Box Score:
Bayliff:

MOVING HITS!

The spring moving season will soon be on hand and we'll all be talking about our new neighbors. A word on getting-acquainted etiquette will not be out of place at this time.

The first important thing is to scrutinize very carefully the furniture of the newcomers. A good plan is to stand in your attic with a pair of opera glasses at hand. If the dining room suite is out of date and there is no sign of a bridge table, it would be considered quite proper to delay the first call until the new neighbor's chickens have dug trenches in your garden. When making this call, be sure to wear a low-necked dress so your chin will have plenty of play.

But suppose the new neighbors have a radio set, a flock of mahogany furniture, an automobile, and a boy with vaseline on his hair. And suppose the very first evening you see the man of the house out in the yard with a bundle of golf clubs. Aha, this is your chance to move into the "king row." Slip over with a plate of fried chicken immediately.

Once in good with such a fashionable family of neighbors, you stand a splendid chance of getting to go on automobile trips next summer. That is provided you will fix the lunch and will be contented to go places no farther away than Yellow Springs.

Let us say, for the sake of argument, that the new neighbor happens to be a doctor and he drops in a few more times than your husband thinks according to Hoyle. In this case, the part you play is very simple. Just give him an apple a day, for "an apple a day keeps the doctor away."

If you are going to move this spring, trucking companies advertise in the Gazette-Republican "Trucking" classification on this page.

WATCHMAN, WHAT OF THE NIGHT!

A sexton should marry a Belle.
A birdman should marry a Polly;
But the man who is wise will open his eyes
And never will wed, by golly!

Going to move this spring? Got a house yet? Then The Gazette-Republican will help you. Consult the rental ads on this page. Or, better still, why not stop paying rent? You can buy a home. Xenia realtors offer terms as reasonable as can be found any place in the country. Consult one of them.

BUREAU OF PUBLIC ROADS TO OPERATE STATIONS ON PIKES

Within the next few days a weight party consisting of six men representing the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, and with the U. S. badges prominently displayed on their uniforms, will operate weight station No. 744 on the Dayton Pike.

They will be equipped with a heavy portable scale, for which a drive has recently been constructed, and during a ten hour period they will weigh all trucks and count all passenger cars and busses to secure the following information:

(a) Trucks—Density per hour, state of license, situs of ownership, make, capacity, body width, body type, origin and destination, total mileage, mileage over Ohio Highways, trips per week, trip time, commodity, packing of load, value of load, type of trucking (Commercial Trucking Company or Owner Operator), gross weight, front and rear axle weights, empty weight, net weight of load, tire size, tire depth and tire impression on pavement.

(b) Passenger Cars—Density per hour.

(c) Passenger Busses—Density per hour, state of passenger capacity, number of passengers, name of operating company, origin and destination, mileage, trip time and tire types.

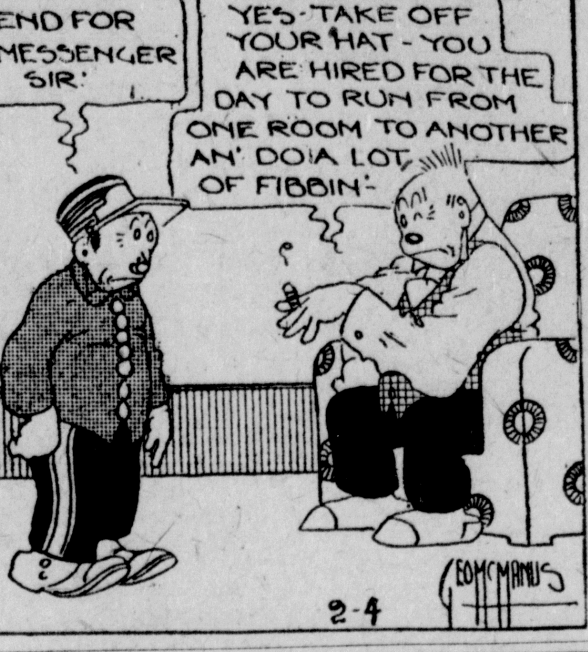

(d) Horse-Drawn Vehicles—Density per hour, origin and destination, type of origin and destination, mileage, trips per week, trip time, commodity, packing value.

This station will be operated thus every two months for one year as will 155 other similar stations on the State Route of Ohio. The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in cooperation with the Ohio Division of Highways is collecting this data to aid in the solution of problems in economic development of Ohio's Highway System and problems of design, types and widths of pavement to serve traffic adequately.

Similar Transport Surveys have been made in California, Massachusetts, Tennessee, Maryland, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Maine and Cook County Illinois. The skeleton of the Ohio organization is made up of seasoned men who assisted in Pennsylvania and Cook County last year.

Similar stations have been operated in the county to gather other important information. This information is never made the basis of prosecution.

BRINGING UP FATHER

One Wife on Approval by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA and JIM LELAND, bride and groom, settle in their new home to find that Jim's mother expects to rule their lives. Cynthia rebels; Jim's devotion to his mother blinds him.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

IV—BRIDGE TABLE BATTLES

CYNTHIA did not mind playing bridge sometimes, but she hated spending a delightful afternoon playing it with women who treated the game as a matter of life and death. And being late to her sister-in-law's party, given in her honor, did not make the occasion any more pleasant.

Her mother-in-law clutched her as she entered the door, said "How could you forget, Cynthia dear!" in reproachful tones, hastily introduced her to the guests whom she did not know, and pushed her into her place at one of the tables. The game began.

Cynthia's partner was a large, expensively dressed person who indulged in bitter frankness as the game progressed.

"Partner, why didn't you obey my signal?" "Partner, didn't you understand that I meant you to lead clubs then?" "Partner, you could have raised my bid and been sure of making it!"

Cynthia began to feel that she was expected to be a mind reader. The room was close, and heavy with the scent of roses. Her head ached. Her hat felt too tight. The large, vehement woman got more and more bitter. The others at the table began to be limply sympathetic. Cynthia wished that she could have worse luck—inevitably she held good cards, played them her best, and then was shown in detail how she could have played them much better.

Nothing but a grand slam seemed to satisfy the large woman. "Young Mrs. Leland plays such a peculiar game!" The large woman, dummy for that hand, was talking with some friends nearby; even her lowest tones were easily audible. Cynthia set her jaw, took off her hat, and shuffled the cards, determined to show this enemy of the moment that she could play bridge well when she had to, even though she loathed it. She concentrated on the game, playing more carefully than ever before, and tried not to consider the possibility that, if she played badly enough, nobody would ever dare ask her to a bridge party again!

The large woman, playing against her now, opened her bugling eyes wide. Mrs. Leland's peculiar game evidently had its good points, after all.

"I don't understand your bidding—I don't understand—" she murmured feebly, when Cynthia had scored high against her. "Your game is most erratic."

"Yes," retorted Cynthia sweetly, jolting down her score after a hand in which she had taken tricks that seemed lost to her forever. An impudent comment came to her lips, but she checked it. After all, these people were the ones among whom she must spend her life, since she had married Jim. The fact that she would never have chosen them for her friends meant nothing. She must live as her mother-in-law and her sister-in-law wished, apparently—for the present, at least.

"But not any longer than I can help," she vowed, when the game was over at last, and perfectly dressed maids were serving perfectly prepared refreshments. She'd have to do that sort of thing, too, in her house. You were entertained, and then you entertained, and then you were entertained again—a vicious circle! She began to estimate the amount of mouse she had eaten since she and Jim returned from their honeymoon and the round of post-nuptial parties. She was sure that it ran into gallons!

Women were talking to her, making the usual comments, asking the usual questions. How did she like her new home? Didn't she find the city charming? She had gone to Miss Lewis' school in Washington, hadn't she? Perhaps she had known Elaine Graham there? No?

"Not that anybody cares whether I knew her or not," she told herself as the chatter ceased. "But they have to say something." Would she ever really know these women, and like them? How stupid and uninteresting she must seem to them, how like a dressed-up doll!

She went home as soon as she possibly could, to find Jim waiting for her. He was tired and rather cross—had looked forward to coming home and finding her there, he announced, and going for a drive out into the country.

"But, Jim dear, it was your sister's bridge party; I had to go," she told him.

"Yes, of course," he answered.

"Mother never nags," said Jim coldly.

"But it does seem as if you might be here when I come home early once in awhile. You're always at some party or other."

"It isn't my fault!" she exclaimed. "I hate these affairs. I forgot all about the one this afternoon—was planning to walk down to your office and call for you—and your mother called me up and was furious at me."

"My heavens—you forgot! And you were the guest of honor!" Horror lay heavy in his voice. "Why, Cynthia, that's—well, really, you should have remembered."

"One minute you scold me for going, and the next you find fault because I almost didn't go!" she sobbed. "It was nothing but quarrels all the time I was there—just one constant fight over a card table—and then you and I quarrel when I get home. Jim, I simply hate this way of living. Your mother will never nag me into going anywhere again unless I want to go."

"Mother never nags," Jim began coldly, looking up from the newspaper he had picked up, but Cynthia had rushed off to her own room, to drop into a corner of the window-seat and try to gain control of herself.

DOCTORS PRESCRIBE NEW FORM COCO LIVER OIL CALLED COCO COD

Builds Strength and Stamina; Makes You Feel Alive in Every Fibre

A new form of pure Norwegian cod liver oil called Coco Cod is being prescribed extensively by physicians here with amazing results. It is really delightful to take because it has the taste of rich cocoa.

"If our food contained the nourishment which make strong, steady nerves and rich red blood, there would be no need for tonics," said a doctor. But modern food is weak, and modern cookery renders it weaker.

Coco Cod liver oil, always popular with the medical fraternity, has won added confidence in this new form called Coco Cod, because of the rich A, B, C and D vitamins which the preparation contains.

It is astounding how men and women, who really consider themselves normal, healthy people, gain added strength, stamina and sheer vitality in a comparatively short time. Even athletes, eager to reach the pink of condition, find a short cut to their goal through Coco Cod.

Children who shrink from ordinary cod liver oil, love Coco Cod with its delightful cocoa flavor. And how they thrive on it! Mothers and fathers, worn and tired from over-work and under-nourishment find new vigor and energy in Coco Cod, which makes them feel alive in every fibre.

All good druggists have Coco Cod, the new easy-to-take cod liver oil with the taste of rich cocoa.—Adv.

HUGHES AT LOGGERHEADS WITH SENATE

SAYS COOLIDGE WITHIN RIGHTS ON DAWES PLAN

Kellogg Agreement Is Defended by Secretary in Message

Washington, Feb. 4.—Secretary Hughes' formal disclaimer that the United States has become involved in the reparations controversy abroad by becoming an official partner in the Dawes plan did not satisfy his critics in the senate today. On the other hand, they were distinctly nettled and a discussion on the floor of the senate was imminent.

Secretary Hughes virtually informed the senate that the agreement negotiated and signed at Paris by Secretary of State-designate Kellogg, is "none of its business." His letter to the senate, did not, of course, put the matter in such blunt language, but stripped of its diplomatic niceties of expression that is what it amounted to.

The president was entirely within his rights in going ahead with the agreement, independently of, and irrespective of the senate's wishes, Hughes declared, under that constitutional authority which gives the executive power to adjust claims with foreign nations.

The principal point which nettled the senate irreconcilables was the secretary's pointed refusal to divulge any of the details of the Paris conference. The Johnson resolution unanimously passed by the senate requested "full information concerning these negotiations and, in his reply Hughes simply ignored this part."

This omission may lead to Senator Johnson, Republican of California, to introduce another resolution, requesting specific information as to whether Kellogg did or did not attempt to attach such an amendment to the agreement, stating that America, by signing, was not committing herself to help the allies collect reparations from Germany.

The reservation was properly objected to by other allies and subsequently withdrawn by Kellogg. The irreconcilable point is this: "If, as Secretary Hughes says, the United States is not bound, either legally or morally, to aid the allies in forcing Germany to disgorge, why is there objection on the part of the allied statesmen in Paris to a reservation specifically stating so?"

The fact that the allies did object to such a reservation, they say, means that they do consider the United States bound to help in forcing Germany to pay.

The mystery surrounding the Kellogg reservation was only deepened by Secretary Hughes' letter. When it was first reported from Paris, Secretary Hughes denied that Kellogg had endeavored to attach such a reservation to the agreement. Subsequently, however, after communication between Paris and Washington this denial was modified and lately, it has been impossible to secure information about it from the department.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN NEAR XENIA AS GAS EXPLODES TUESDAY

Fire originating from a gasoline explosion, entirely destroyed a barn and contents on a farm owned by Edward Nichols, this city, and tenanted by Wesley Melvin, New Burlington Pike near Xenia, about 7:10 o'clock Tuesday night.

Damage to both the barn and contents was estimated to run well over $3,500. No insurance was carried on the contents. Insurance on the barn amounted to $1,200.

The fire originated when Melvin was in the act of drawing gasoline from one of his autos kept in the barn to fill the tank of his Ford. Some of the gasoline ran down his right arm to a lighted lantern which exploded, severely burning Melvin's arm.

The flames were fed by loose hay and chaff on the floor and reaching the three tons of hay in the bins spread rapidly.

Firemen were first directed to the Hooven and Allison Mills. The department returned after the fire was found to be beyond the corporation limits.

Fire Chief T. B. Claire, however, went to the scene, and assisted in forming a bucket brigade that helped save the residence and chicken house from destruction. The wind was blowing in a north-westerly direction and the farm house, less than forty feet away, was not seriously threatened.

Three automobiles, including two Chevrolet touring cars, and a Ford touring car, a motorcycle, three tons of hay and various farm implements were destroyed.

Several chemicals were brought from the O. S. and S. O. Home but were used merely as a precautionary measure against a spreading of the flames.

Two cows were taken from the stable before the flames had gained much headway.

Police Scout Confession Of Child Who Tells Of Poisoning Three; Is Examined

Kidnap Girl

Los Angeles, Feb. 4.—Love and tragedy were linked hand in hand today when seven year old Alsa Thompson's confession that she took the lives of her baby twin sisters by feeding them ground glass in their food two years ago, ended another woman's life by giving her rat poisoning and recently tried to take the lives of eight other persons by giving them poison, was believed to have caused a reconciliation between her estranged mother and father.

Meanwhile physicians and surgeons are continuing their examination of the girl to determine whether they believe her weird confession or if it is simply a figment of her imagination. Among those making a study of the girl and her revolting narrative is Dr. Edwin H. Williams, well known alienist. Police are of the opinion that the child is an accomplished fictionist and scout her story.

However, the fact remains that the strange substance, supposedly a mixed solution of acid water from a storage battery and ant paste was found spread over the food for a meal in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Platt, with whom the child and her young sister have been boarders. It was the discovery of this solution in the food that led police investigation and subsequently taking the girl into custody.

Dr. Williams stated that in his opinion Alsa's story impresses him as being truthful and that she has probably the mind of a girl three or four years her senior. He also said she was possessed with too much intellect and not enough judgment and that her psychic energy has been wrongly directed.

In explaining her acts to the officers and her questioners the girl showed no sign of emotion and she said, she guessed she was "just bad."

The child's father, Russell G. Thompson, scoffed at his daughter's confession as being true. The mother was reported nearly hysterical and unable to make a statement.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC IN NOME UNABATED IN SPITE OF ARRIVAL OF ANTITOXIN

Physician in Stricken City Does Not Believe Serum Hurt By Freezing—Want Extra Supply Sent By Airplane—Appeal To Governor.

Nome, Alaska, Feb. 4.—Nome's diphtheria epidemic continued unabated today.

Dr. Curtis Welch's official statement showed twenty-nine cases today. There were thirty-one suspects and more than one hundred contacts. There have been ten new cases in the last five days.

Dr. Welch is going ahead, using the antitoxin rushed here by dog team relays over nearly 700 miles of icy tundra with the presumption that its freezing enroute has not harmed it. He said he believed freezing had not taken away its force and that with the 300,000 units received Monday and the additional supplies on the way he would be able to make progress in the fight against the plague.

The state board of health appealed to Governor Scott C. Bone at Juneau to rush additional serum by airplane. They urged the governor to have an airplane dispatched here immediately and informed him that difficulties regarding a suitable landing place could be overcome by having the flyers land on the huge icefield just west of Nome in the Bering sea.

Members of the board said they feared the present supply would be exhausted before an airplane arrived now even if plans for hurrying the serum here were expedited.

Among the victims today was Sigfried Soppella, daughter of Leonard Soppella, the champion musher, winner of the Nome dog derby, who aided in bringing the serum here by dog teams. She was reported dangerously ill.

REV. G. S. MACAULAY ACCEPTS CALL TO CHURCH IN BOSTON

Word that the Rev. George S. Macaulay, of Philadelphia, Pa., former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in this city, has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Roxbury Presbyterian Church, in Boston, Mass., is of interest in Greene County.

The Roxbury congregation has been without a pastor since the death last October of the Rev. Clarence Young, who was well known here and has a number of local relatives.

The Rev. Mr. Young had attained a high scholarship and received the degrees of Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Divinity before his untimely death. He took the pastorate of the Roxbury Church in 1911 and built the church up until it enjoyed a large congregation.

Since the Rev. Mr. Macaulay's service overseas, he has served as pastor of the Lafayette Square Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md., and has recently been assistant pastor of the Bethany Presbyterian Church at Philadelphia, commonly known as "Phil Wanamaker's Church."

He left that pastorate to accept the Roxbury call. He provides for more expenditures than receipts.

This was the fate of the first postal pay increase bill and it is a contingency which congressional leaders wish to avoid for a second time.

AMPUTATION OF LEG MAY NOT NOW BE NECESSARY

Chicago Surgeons To Attempt Operation Under Poor Conditions

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 4.—Floyd Collins, cave explorer, imprisoned in a cave since Friday was freed from the boulder holding his foot this morning, but a slide in the opening between him and the mouth of the cave will stay his complete rescue several hours.

The slide came while Collins was alone and none of the rescuers were caught behind the rock.

Rescuers were unable to determine whether Collins' foot was crushed so that amputation would be necessary. He is in good physical condition and unless complications set in he may be able to retain the use of the foot held under the rock.

The information was given the rescuers by Collins, that his feet were free, but that he was too weak to force his way to the mouth.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 4.—Dr. W. H. Hazlett and Dr. Harold Jones, both of Chicago, arrived here this morning and left at once by airplane for Cave City, Ky., to attempt release of Floyd Collins, held prisoner in Sand Cave by a falling boulder by amputating his leg.

A second boulder has fallen on top of the one pinning Collins down, undoing all the work of drillers thus far and making rescue by means of other than amputation, absolutely impossible. It was learned here today.

The light will be podest best that afforded by flashlights and the narrowing of the passage prevents free arm movement.

"We are especially afraid of an excessive loss of blood on the patient's part," Dr. Hazlett said, "for the amputation will have to be made high, almost to the waist line. Collins, of course, is in a very weakened condition from his position and exposure. We are taking a number of most recently perfected hemostats, or hemostatic forceps to retard the blood flow when the knife severs large veins and arteries.

"It will be impossible to administer general anaesthetics, such as chloroform or ether. In the narrow confines of the cave, the operator also would be anaesthetized. For this reason we can only use local anaesthetics."

Some fear was expressed here that Dr. Hazlett would be unable to "squeeze" his way into the passage where Collins is held. Several rescuers have been unable to make their way through these passages and when volunteers have been asked for small men have been designated.

Dr. Hazlett is not a small man.

HAWKINS FURNISHES BAIL FOR RELEASE

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 4.—Morton S. Hawkins, of Portland, Ind., president of the Hawkins Mortgage Company, who has been in the Hamilton County jail for several weeks, late Tuesday furnished $30,000 bond and was released.

Hawkins is under indictment at Indianapolis on a charge of using the mails to defraud stock holders. Hawkins' application for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his removal to Indianapolis for trial was denied by U. S. District Judge Smith Hickman. Then Hawkins announced his intention to carry the case to the U. S. circuit court of appeals. He has been in jail because his bondsmen were unable to qualify until now.

MAN CAPTIVE IN KENTUCKY CAVE MAKES PEACE WITH GOD AND IS READY FOR DEATH

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 4.—Floyd Collins today was reconciled to death as a possible release from his long imprisonment in Sand Cave, where a boulder pinning his foot, has held him fast more than five days. But the mine crew pushing the rescue work in the cramped tunnel where the cave explorer was caught, held hope that he might be released.

This morning the mine crew had again cleared the sand and stone from Collins' body down as far as his shoetops and planned to drill a hole in the large stone which holds his foot in a crevice.

The work is laborious. He is caught in a small passage way about the size of a sugar barrel above a pit eighty feet deep. The entrance to the passage from the surface is barely large enough to permit a small man to squeeze through, and back through this must be brought the sand and stones which slide down the passage and pile about the prisoner.

The stone which holds his foot fast, is too large to go through this passage.

At White House

MISS MARGARET STEMPEL

There's whispering about a romance in the White House, since Miss Margaret Stemple, pretty Ohio Northern University student, of Ada, O., visited there. She and her mother were presented at a reception. There she met John Coolidge and the two became fast friends. The President's only surviving son took her for a long tour of inspection of the Mansion walls, ughers searched for them.

SLAYING OF TOLEDO BOWLER IS SOLVED WITH TWO ARRESTS

Farmer Held for Murder and Widow of Slain Man as Witness

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—Mystery of the slaying of Willis Briggs, noted Toledo bowler, was completely solved, Police announced today with the arrest of T. J. Irelan, Deerfield, Michigan, farmer, and Mrs. Bertha Briggs, widow of the slain man.

Charges of suspicion upon which the two are held without bail in the county jail, will be changed later in the day. It was officially announced, Irelan, it was indicated, may be charged with murder, while Mrs. Briggs is held as a material witness.

Mrs. Briggs, police say, told them after she was taken into custody as her husband's body was being lowered to a grave, at Memorial Park Cemetery, late yesterday, that she was on an auto ride with Irelan, when her husband surprised them.

Irelan, married and father of five children, police say, admits the killing but said it was done in self defense.

BOY THREW PIPE—BUT IT WAS BOMB

Boston, Feb. 4.—Hundreds of pupils in two public schools were startled today by a bomb explosion in the south end.

A boy, cleaning the room of a man who had just died in a Warrenton Street lodging house, found a pipe shaped instrument and tossed it out of a window. It exploded with a roar.

Police and ambulances were rushed to Warrenton Street but no one was found to be injured.

An investigation was being made of the dead man's effects to learn if he were the maker of other bombs.

WILL FRIDAY SEE END OF WORLD?

Reformed Seventh Day Adventists Say "Yes"—Evangelist Here Says "No."

Dr. George Hugh Birney, evangelist, who is conducting a series of union services at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, laughed Wednesday as he refuted the report that the world will come to an end Friday, as prophesied by the Reformed Seventh Day Adventists in Cleveland.

"While I believe in a certain second coming of Jesus, no man knows the time and the season, not even the Son. Himself, only the Lord knoweth," said Dr. Birney, quoting the Bible.

"The very fact that these people claim to know the time and place would indicate that they do not know. We are told to watch and pray, and not to look for His coming, because no one will know."

"Those who undertake to point out contradictions of scripture are in direct violation of the spirit of the thing."

The Reformed Seventh Day Adventists are not the first to predict the nearest of the end of the world. Back in 1843, New England farmers by the thousands were similarly deluded by those convinced by reading certain phrases in the Book of Daniel, that the second coming of Christ was close at hand.

William Miller, a farmer, of Low Hampton, N. Y., preached this belief by reading the book and his followers gained the sobriquet of "Millerites."

The substance of his preachings, which were of a character that influenced others to like beliefs, were that judgment day was at hand, the world would be entirely consumed by a devastating fire burning all wicked persons up with it, while the good would be spared and be gathered up to heaven.

This prophecy spread through the towns and rural communities, like wild fire and finally many people in Boston, New York and other Eastern cities reconciled to the nearness of the end.

April 1843, was first announced as the date of the second coming of the Son of the Lord, but as nothing occurred to fulfill this belief, the time was changed to October for the end of the world. As October approached, "Millerites" began to prepare for the end.

Ascension robes were a thing necessary and to be had at any cost. Many gave away all their worldly possessions, and when the stated day came, many ascended to the housetops or to the uppermost tops of the trees in their robes while others, took to the hilly country. A comet visible in that year, was taken as a sure omen of the expected end.

Panic resulted when the day of reckoning passed with nothing out of the ordinary occurring. A few people recovered their property but the majority became inmates of insane asylums.

During the following excitement, speakers preaching the second coming sprung up from everywhere, and speeches were even carried into the House of Representatives, at Washington. Newspapers of the day gave the incident much notoriety.

SPRINGFIELD MAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

William Ball, 80, Springfield, O., retired Pennsylvania Railroad engineer, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Juergens, 231 East College Avenue, Springfield Monday after a short illness, from kidney trouble.

Mr. Ball was a Pennsylvania Railroad engineer on the Springfield division for forty-six years.

He is survived by one son, John Ball, of Hallen, Ind.

His wife formerly Alice Thompson of Xenia, preceded her husband in death twenty-three years.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Raphael Church, Springfield and burial was made in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

LACK OF HOME LIFE CAUSE OF WAYWARD YOUTH SAYS JUDGE

"No group has a more vital touch with the school than the Parent-Teachers Association and all parents should belong to this organization, fathers as well as mothers," declared Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright in address before the Orient Hill P. T. A., Monday afternoon.

"The Juvenile Court touches the school through the truant officer and through the neglected and dependent child," he said. "The court's aim is to try and reclaim boys and girls where ever possible and only as a last resort are they sent to the reform schools. The court tries to find some way in which to help and start these boys and girls over again. If there were no bad homes there would be no bad boys or girls," he declared.

"All the cases handled by the court are children whose parents do not go to church and the children do not attend Sunday School and the improper direction and lack of encouragement of parents leads to their wrongdoing. Something must be done to make these parents see and assume their responsibility."

Judge Wright urged that teachers and parents teach their children that "labor is dignity" and that it is a disgrace to be idle. He also urged them to teach honesty and asked members of the P. T. A. to be a friend to boys and girls. He closed his address by recapturing the poem, "The House By The Side of The Road."

C. A. Waltz, city superintendent of schools, addressed the body on "The Importance of Education." He said "no teacher nor parent can succeed unless he or she loves the child, and we would have no teacher in the schools who does not love children. A town is judged by the efficiency of the schools and a setback in education would be a setback to civilization.

"Therefore education must stand," declared Superintendent Waltz. "Education turns back into the world seventeen times more than the world puts into education. No other profession demands as much as the profession of teaching. A teacher has to have the highest moral standards and study all the time."

The meeting was featured by a good attendance. The secretary read a letter from the Federated Parent-Teacher Association of the city, thanking the Orient Hill organization for its share in "putting across" the district convention held in Xenia last week.

The success of the convention lay in the united efforts of the local organizations, officials say.

The treasurer reported $49 in the bank. The association has furnished instruments and music for an orchestra in the school. Miss Harriet McCarty is directing the orchestra.

Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Mrs. S. G. Spahr were appointed to investigate needy children in the school and make the necessary provisions for them. Mrs. James Canaday and Mrs. Charles Cross, were named to meet with the Social Service League board the first Monday in each month.

The social committee served tea with Valentine Day appointments after the program of the afternoon.

New Easy Way To End NASAL CATARRH

Quick and sure; safe and no trouble—the new way to get rid of loathsome Catarrh in nose and throat. It may be acute or it may be chronic—of years standing—you may have tried salves and ointments and other treatments.

You're probably disgusted and think you haven't a chance in the world of overcoming it.

Try once more—try this. Get a six ounce bottle of Kojene for 60 cents at Sayre and Hemphill or any progressive druggist. Spray the nostrils with it twice a day for three or four days or until every Catarrh germ is destroyed and the nose is clean and clear.

Try once more and get rid of this obnoxious disease. Kojene will do it. If by any mishap it fails your money will be gladly returned.

Kojene is the world's most powerful non-poisonous antiseptic—seventy-five times as strong as highly flavored antiseptics—yet you can drink it with no ill effects.

If it won't conquer nasal catarrh and clean out every trace of mucous and soreness nothing will.—Adv.

THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Success depends primarily on a healthy liver and stomach. You can not think straight if these organs are not working properly. May's Wonderful Remedy is usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. At all druggists.

There's Real Medicine Now For Stubborn Hang-On Coughs

When nothing seems to do that lingering, bothersome cough any good just go to Sayre & Hemphill's and get a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion.

Take it as directed and notice how easily it overcomes that persistent cough that has caused you many sleepless nights.

It's a medicine compounded for the purpose of conquering tough, hang-on coughs, and that's exactly what it does—quickly and thoroughly. There is no dope in Broncholine Emulsion, no chloroform, nor sugar—such things are only makeshifts and should be taken with the greatest caution.

For ordinary simple coughs two or three doses of Broncholine Emulsion is usually enough.

Sayre and Hemphill and dealers everywhere can supply you.—Adv.

guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clem Conklin and family; Mr. and Mrs. Al Conklin and family and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Early entertained the Rev. Mr. Elliot of Alpha, O., the Rev. Mr. Reynolds of Xenia; the Rev. Mr. Williams of Columbus and the Rev. Mr. Clark of Bowersville, at dinner, Saturday.

The Rev. Mr. Williams, of Columbus, president of the Methodist Conference delivered a splendid address Sunday afternoon at Eleazer.

Mrs. Dennis Padgett has gone to Florida to see her father, Mr. Stryker and spend a few weeks. The lecture, "The Need of the Hour," by Judge Allen at Caesar-creek Thursday evening was enjoyed by all.

Members of the Eleazer Aid Society will furnish dinner at Mr. Lewis Weaver's sale, Wednesday.

HOLD COUNCIL MEETING ON TUESDAY EVENING

The Men's Council of the First Lutheran Church this city met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kohl, North King Street, Tuesday evening. Plans were made for a re-dedication of the church on the completion of the interior decorating in March. A report on the work in the church showed that the plans for the new kitchen were nearing completion and that the kitchen would be ready for use in the near future. For the re-dedication, notices and letters have been sent to members of the church, their families and friends to join in the Home-Coming.

Mrs. Kohl had issued an invitation to the wives of the men to enjoy a few games. Prize winners were Mrs. R. Farrington of Portsmouth and Mrs. F. F. Wilson. At a late hour the hostess served a delicious two course luncheon.

Out of town guests at the affair were the Rev. W. H. Naffziger, of Springfield, pastor of the Lutheran Church this city and Mr. and Mrs. Barrington of Portsmouth.

PENNSYLVANIA WOMEN FORM ORGANIZATION

Mothers, wives and sisters of employees and women employed on the Cincinnati Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, formed an organization at the open meeting held in the basement of the Court House, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. E. Laycock was elected secretary of the organization and Mrs. Walter Owens was elected treasurer. Mrs. J. E. Daly, chairman of the women's organization of this division, presided at the meeting.

Plans were made for a party February 23 at the Knights of Pythias Hall. Each meeting of the organization hereafter will be of a social nature.

A business meeting will be held on the last Tuesday of each month, it was planned.

XENIAN ATTENDANT AT WEDDING SATURDAY

Mr. Leroy Gaddis, of Xenia, was one of the attendants at the marriage of Mr. Estel Manker and Miss Leola Shooley, at Martinsville, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Elsie Lauter of Russellville, was the bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. S. Townsend. Dinner was served for members of the bridal party and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Schooley.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN AS FAREWELL

The Misses Mather Tate and Muriel Abing were hostesses at a surprise party, honoring Miss Alberta Richards, who is moving this week to Cincinnati, Tuesday evening. Fourteen boys and girls met at the home of Miss Mary Tate and enjoyed the evening with music and games. A refreshment course was served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hughes of this city spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Pidgeon, and family near Wilmington.

Mrs. Emma Michener of Xenia and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Barnes of Alpha, were guests of Mrs. W. S. Adams, near Wilmington Sunday. Mrs. Adams has been seriously ill and Mrs. Michener remained for a few days with her sister.

George McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McKay, West Third Street, underwent an operation at the McAllellan Hospital, Wednesday morning. His condition is favorable.

On account of the continued illness of Mrs. Charlotte Reeves Conover, at her home in Dayton, the regular lecture by Mrs. Conover at the First Baptist Church, Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be postponed until next week. It is announced. Mrs. Conover is recovering from her illness but is not able to appear before audiences.

EAST END NEWS MRS. JAMES HARRIS Correspondent TEL. 91-R

Mrs. Ida Washington, of East Market Street, is very ill with neuritis of the heart.

Mr. John Williams of 735 East Second Street is confined indoors with grip.

Mrs. Viola Hubbard, East Church Street, received word Monday announcing the death of a relative, Rev. Degrester of New York. He will be remembered as a visitor here last summer. Rev. Anderson, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church, Dayton, was called to preach the funeral discourse.

Mrs. Jennie Granville, of Cincinnati was called here on account of the illness of her brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Granville.

Mrs. Marie Knight of East Main Street, is among the sick this week.

What might have been a serious accident was averted Tuesday morning at six-thirty o'clock when Mrs. Eula Kennedy was struck by a machine driven by Bonnie Lowe.

Mrs. Kennedy, realizing that it was impossible to get out of the way of the on-coming machine turned her back to it and jumped into the air just as she was struck coming down on the bumper of the car and being carried several feet before the car was stopped.

Mr. Lowe says his vision was obstructed by a machine that was being driven on the wrong side of the street by Ernest Haines.

Mrs. Kennedy did not think she was hurt but about two hours later began to suffer severely from the jar she had received, although the physician thinks there will be no serious results.

Third M. E. Church.—The spiritual feast is now spread and you are missing it all by your non-attendance. Rev. Mrs. Bertha Smith is in charge. This lady is a most wonderful preacher and songster. It is a treat to hear her. Come and be blessed. G. L. Sheppard.

W. M. LAURENS DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME EARLY WEDNESDAY

Walter Martin Laurens, 53, died at his home on the Peterson Road, Wednesday morning about 5 o'clock. Death was sudden although he had been subject to neuralgia of the heart for about two years.

Late Tuesday evening Mr. Laurens complained of a sharp pain in his chest and Wednesday morning was sitting in a chair before the fire with his head resting on the back of the chair when the end came. Death was caused by angina-pectoris, an neuralgia of the heart.

Mr. Laurens is survived by his widow and one daughter, Freda, at home, and his mother, Mrs. Josephine Laurens, of Hill Street. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. William Lackey, Cedarville; Mrs. John Turner, Cedarville; Mrs. Harry Baufman, Troy, Ohio; Mrs. William Betts, Troy; John C. Laurens, Sharonville, Ohio; Lee Laurens, New Burlington; Edward Laurens, Wilmington; William Laurens, Fairground Road; James Laurens, south of Xenia, and Miss Olive Laurens, who lives with her mother.

On December 3, 1890, he married Miss Emma Hagner. He was the son of Augustus Laurens who preceded him in death many years. Funeral services will be held at the home on the Peterson Road Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

LIEUTENANT ROY MENDENHALL MADE NEW FIRE CAPTAIN

Lieutenant Roy Mendenhall of the Xenia Fire Department has been promoted to captain by City Manager S. O. Hale to succeed Captain Glen Rayburn, who died last week.

The promotion was made effective February 1. William Hanifan, fireman, was elected by his comrades to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Captain Mendenhall.

The position of lieutenant was created two years ago by agreement of fireman as an honorary office and in order to provide an officer in charge should the chief and captain both be absent. It carries no increase in salary.

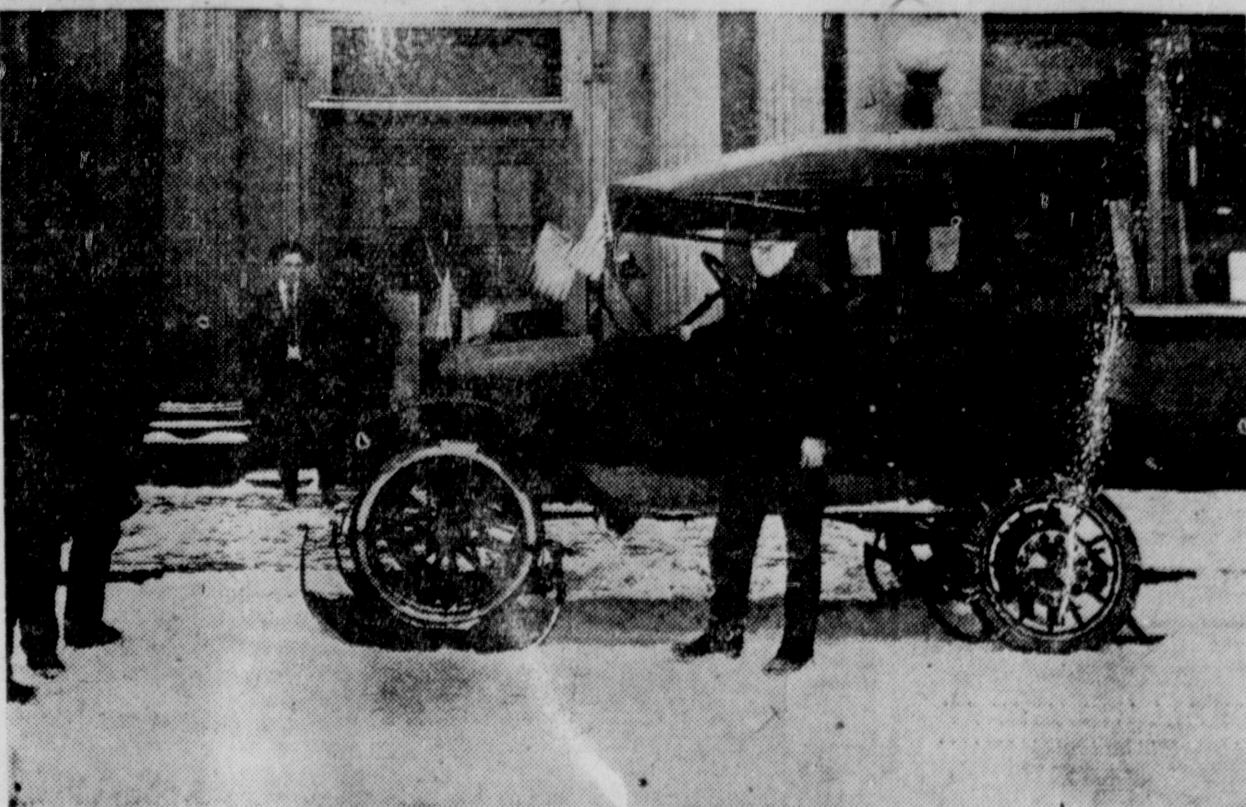

GARVER ASKS FOR INJUNCTION TO PREVENT INVESTIGATION OF HOME

Columbus, Feb. 4.—Application of Sylvius Garver for a writ to stop the senate probe of conditions at the home was denied today by the supreme court. The probe starts tomorrow as scheduled at Xenia.

Columbus, Feb. 4.—Sylvius Garver, superintendent of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home, Xenia, today asked the state supreme court for a temporary writ prohibition investigation of the home, as ordered by the senate, which was to have opened at Xenia tomorrow.

Marcus Shoup, Xenia attorney filed the suit for Garver. Garver declared the senate, as a body, without the joint action of the

AUTO SLED INVENTED BY XENIAN IS NEW TRAVEL METHOD

F. A. KLEIN AND AUTO SLED
Francis A. Klein of this city is inventor of an "auto-sled," a novel means of locomotion, which attracted considerable attention when driven about the streets here last week.

The invention is a system of sled runners to be fastened on any make of automobile, so that the machine skids along on runners when there is sufficient snow or may be converted back into an ordinary automobile if there is no snow.

Mr. Klein has applied for patents on the invention, and believes it has a particularly popular field in sections of the country where snow is on the ground at least half the year. The invention consists of a pair of sled runners on which the front wheels are mounted so that they do not touch the ground at all.

Another pair of runners are under the rear of the machine adjusted so that they divide the weight of the rear of the car equally with the rear wheels. Enough of the rear wheels touch the street however, to provide traction, and the machine runs by the usual means of locomotion.

On a disc around the rear wheel hubs, are a number of sleigh bells which help carry out the sleigh atmosphere when the "auto-sled" is in motion. Action of the sled runners takes up the bumps in the highway, so that riding in the "auto-sled" has the same gliding sensation as traveling in a sleigh.

The machine may make all the speed of which it is capable, since the runners do not retard movement. In case there is no snow, the front

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by washing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year, adv.

BY ONE WHO WAS THERE

We see that a woman in Springfield, Mass., was butted into the middle of next week, if not actually farther, by a ram not long ago, and, as soon as she recovered her faculties, sued the owner of the creature for $10,000, and got it and, perhaps the younger neighbor girl, who just loves pets, will concede now that we knew best when we advised her so strongly not to bring over from his birthplace in West Jefferson that cunning little lamb named Edward Quentin, who probably would have been big enough by this time to cost her $10,000 for operating on us alone.—Ohio State Journal. Bob is about right about that. We prefer to have a strong fence between us and the tamest ram that ever existed. We know their playful ways.—Versailles Policy.

THE NEW FREEDOM

Mud—mud—mud—the streets are liquid, flowing; ladies trailing dresses—Oh, how nice—all bedraggled, yet sweeping still. Oh, Fashion, thou fickle tyrant! How cruel to impose thus upon thy fair votaries!—Ohio State Journal, Jan. 8, 1862.

Oh! answers echo.
They trailed 63 years ago. They trailed and were bedraggled through many succeeding years. But they are not trailing now, not by several inches. Fashion is less the tyrant. Angles have stepped into the era of freedom. Their shackles have been loosed and kicked off. All hail 'em!—Toledo Blade.

SLEEP

Anderson Fry, who is a student at Marshall College, has made the revolutionary announcement, according to the news columns, that ninety minutes of sleep a day are sufficient for anyone.

Now not being versed in medical matters, we do not propose to argue with young Mr. Fry, who has been following that practice for five years and should know what he is talking about.

We merely call his attention to a piece of machinery, which, having been operated for several hours, must be stopped, thoroughly gone over by the machinist and oiled, if it is expected to continue to do its task efficiently.

Now the human body is a machine, working systematically but subject to the common ills. Like a storage battery which runs down in constant use, but is kept up to full charge if only called upon for service part of the time, the human body will always be ready to function properly if there is a sufficient period of relaxation when the used cells may re-charge themselves and overworked muscles may drop their tension.

This re-charging cannot be accomplished in ninety minutes. No inventor has yet designed a perpetual motion machine, and we believe that young Mr. Fry, in his proximity to perpetual motion, is lopping years off his life.

JAPAN

The philosophy of Japan and the Orient are ancient and probably has something to do with "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth."

Japan is considering the enactment of a law forbidding the ownership of land in Japan by foreigners except under a reciprocal agreement under which Japanese may own land in the country to which they give permission.

The act may cause a tense diplomatic situation between Japan and the United States for the reason that certain states in this country forbid Japanese to own land within their confines. Under the provisions of an amendment proposed to the new law, however, residents of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, Alaska and the District of Columbia would be barred from land ownership in Japan.

The act seems to be a move to pay back kind for kind, and we can not feel altogether unsympathetic with the Japanese viewpoint. If these states, by a vote of their citizens, have forbidden Japanese to own land, then they should accept Japan's similar ultimatum in the same manner they would have their own accepted.

Certainly they should not be the means of involving the nation in what might be a serious diplomatic controversy because they adopt the policy of refusing to accede in Japan to a legislative move which they themselves inaugurated.

WHEN BILL GOES BORROWING

When Bill goes out a-borrowing a gentleman is he.
He never tries with churlish frowns to win your sympathy.
He's filled with good intentions and his promises are fair.
When Bill is after money he has flattery to spare.
He asks about your people and his love to them he'll send.
When Bill goes out a-borrowing you're sure to be his friend.
When Bill goes out a-borrowing he's never rough nor rude.
But in a gentle voice he vows undying gratitude.
If to his sorry tale of woe you lend a willing ear,
For just a day or two he'll sound your praises far and near.
When Bill goes out a-borrowing, his finest self he shows,
But he's a different fellow when you ask him for what he owes.

gracious as can be,
But when the day for payment comes another man is he;
For when you ask him to return what you were glad to lend,
He makes it very plain to all you've ceased to be his friend;
And if insistent you become, he'll grumble there and then
That for the sake of money you'd oppress your fellow men.

And yet I keep my love for Bill, because I understand
The borrower must always be both courteous and bland
Whenever men or nations go a-borrowing you'll find
They wear their best behavior—and they leave their worst behind;
All borrowers are pleasant when you lend them what they lack,
But most of them resent it when they're asked to pay it back.

The Needmore neighborhood was the scene of the shooting of a great eagle Saturday. It was a magnificent specimen, its wings measuring six feet, eight inches from tip to tip.

canopy so that the gathers ran across, and more white marquisette was festooned in a valance completely around the edges of the canopy, falling down to the depth of perhaps a foot, and edged with a heavy white fringe. The highest points of this festooning (that is, where the material was looped up) were decorated with rosettes of the same material. The general effect of this all-white bed was startlingly dainty. Upon inquiry I learned that the marquisette cost $1.50 a yard—not too high a price for one to pay for such a satisfying result. The window overdrapes in this room were also most original; they were made of green-striped silk taweta which fell to the floor and were looped back by bands of the same material. An inch-wide slip of the goods, box-pleated, edged the inside of the curtains and the lower part of the band which looped them back.

I recently visited a "model suite of rooms" in a department store which was furnished in Colonial style. It was a work of art. The Colonial effect was carried out to the minutest detail.

In the Living Room were the usual pieces—the old-time "sofa" which in grandmother's day was often covered with horsehair (this one, however, had a green-and-tan striped cover); a mahogany table, Chippendale sewing table, beautiful old chairs—in fact, the usual "parlor" furniture of that day.

In the Dining Room I was impressed with the flat "squad" seat pads on the rattan bottom chairs. These were made of black satin damask lined with plain black cotton material and bound around the edge with a cheerful-looking red cord. (Tapes at the corners of these seat pads tied the cushion to the legs of the chairs.) Another original note was struck in the window overdrapes of expensive gold damask, which had brass rings sewed to the under side about two feet from the top, through which ran a cord by which the curtains could be gracefully looped back. The furniture consisted of the usual dining room pieces in Colonial style (I am merely trying to mention the original notes in the rooms).

In the Bedroom I found the most unusual decorative idea in the entire "house": An old field bed had been used (with four high posts and a skeleton-like canopy of wood arched over it). An old-fashioned white coverlet covered the mattress, but the pillows were bare, save for their white linen slips. White marquisette in a wide mesh had been gathered fully across the top of the bed.

Today's Talks

We rent life. We do not own it. We pay high rent when we give all we are so that we may rank high in all to which we aspire.

It takes earning capacity to buy a beautiful home where high rent is the penalty.

It is so with success, happiness, and artistic achievement. We have to pay with our very souls for the fine fragrance of greatness. And when it is all boiled down you see at the bottom the clear crystals of disappointment, suffering, privation. And the glitter from these crystals reflects sweet rays of approval for all that has been lost.

This is one of the reasons why honest eulogy should be given while people breathe and walk around on the streets and—need it.

A man himself is able to measure his own compensations and be content in his heart, but how his entire inner life aches for approval for appreciation, for understanding while yet he is a human being in form and substance the same as those with whom he carries day by day. People should be praised while they work and can bear. I have never known anyone who didn't work better or become happier just the moment that some one threw praise his way.

Eulogies over people who have gone are helpful in but one way: to shame us for not saying kind things about those who remain, or for not saying them to the one to whom they are directed while he was here with us.

It is quite possible to overpraise one who is not big enough to handle it, but it is always possible to harm and discourage by giving no praise at all.

Often unworthily praised people finally measure up to over praise. A human being grows tremendously through the belief of others.

CHRIST CRUCIFIED AGAIN BY THOSE WHO REJECT HIM EVANGELIST TELLS LISTENERS

"The Unforgivable Sin" was the evangelist's theme Tuesday night, before a great audience at the union meetings being held at the First Methodist Church.

The evangelist led his hearers to Calvary and graphically described the death of Jesus upon the Cross. "The sin that damns a soul is the sin of rejection, for all other sins are gathered up and expressed in that act. The Cross stands for all that God could do in redemption, and we reject the whole plan of salvation when we reject Jesus. By that rejection we become guilty of Jesus' death as really as if our own hands had nailed his body to the Cross."

Then the text was announced, "Seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put Him in an open shame." Heb. 6:6.

"It is difficult for the modern mind to grasp this conception of sin," said Dr. Birney, "because we have associated sin with its overt acts almost exclusively. It is easy for us to think of sin in relation to the drunkard and the libertine and the murderer and the adulterer, but more difficult to think of sin in relation to the respectable and the prosperous and the socially prominent. We can easily see why the harlot and the thief should know condemnation, but how about those who live on the Avenue and write their checks for charity, and keep within the letter of the moral code? What I want to say is this: that in God's sight, they are all alike so long as they all reject the Saviorhood of Jesus Christ, because the sin that damns is just that. By rejecting Him we crucify Him afresh, and shame Him again, saying, 'His blood be upon us, and upon our children!' We appropriate to ourselves the condemnation of the cross."

"If you are keeping Jesus out of your life tonight, you are as guilty of His death as if you had been in the mob long ago that led Him to Calvary. And, by the same token, you would have been one of those who then cried, 'Away with Him, away with Him, we will not have this man rule over us—away with Him, crucify Him, crucify Him.'"

"Jesus was not only crucified nineteen hundred years ago, but He has been crucified today in Xenia, by those who have turned away from Him. This is the sin that damns, not sin in black enough, or horrible enough, or eternal enough, to damn forever, save the malignant, hateful, vengeful sin of crucifying to ourselves the Son of God afresh! And every rejection means just that."

In closing the evangelist described the three groups surrounding the Cross—the mob, the Disciples who stood afar off, and the smaller group standing near by—"These three groups are found in Xenia today," he said, "and they are as clearly defined as when they stood upon the darkened brow of that first Calvary."

"To which group do you belong, O my friend tonight? Everything—life, character, destiny, service, salvation, all hang upon your answer to what you are doing with Jesus. At the sin of the world is gathered up and expressed in the sin of rejection which is the sin which damns forever. If you go out of life with the blood of that sin upon your heart you will meet God as the murderers of His Son. The only unforgivable sin is that final rejection which leave no place for mercy beyond the grave. And so wonderful is the love of God, that His mercy will follow you to the very gates of death, pleading, pleading, pleading. Is your rejection final tonight? Are you going into eternity with the same grim-lipped defiance, the same stubborn, unrelenting hate of unrepented will? If so, there remaineth no...

more a sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful expectation of Judgment." Heb. 10:26.

Dr. Birney's subject Wednesday night will be "The Marks of Heaven and Hell."

The largest crowd yet was present Tuesday night, and the Sunday School room of the church had to be opened. Trinity church orchestra gave two fine numbers, much to the delight of the large audience. Several ministers of the city occupied places on the platform. Rev. A. J. Kestle, of Bellefontaine, and his family were present. Dr. Birney recently held a meeting in Bellefontaine. A number of Sunday School classes from both Trinity and First Churches attended in bodies. As they were announced by Dr. Stanton, they were greeted with applause. Each morning from 9 to 9:30 is observed as prayer hour, and many at this time are engaged in earnest prayer for the success of the meetings.

Wednesday night is "Community Night." The Women's Bible Class of First Church will attend in a body. Other delegations are expected. Dr. Birney will give a short prelude to his regular sermon Wednesday evening, in connection with the prediction by some that the end of the world will occur February 6.

Thursday night will be "Young People's Night," and a delegation from the High School and grades are expected. Dr. Birney will speak upon the subject: "The Suicide of the Soul." Thursday afternoon the theme will be, "Prayer—A Love Attitude."

INTERESTING TRIP SUBJECT OF TALK

W. Crawford Craig gave a graphic description of a trip he made at the close of the World War from Halifax to Trinidad and the West Indies, at the Xenia Kiwanis Club meeting at the Elks' Club, Tuesday night.

Mr. Craig told of each step of his trip and gave interesting history in connection with the islands and the country he visited. He spent several months in Trinidad and was able to give a complete history of the locality.

His talk was the main feature of the program following dinner. The Kiwanians were asked to help in finding a scoutmaster for Troop Two, Boy Scouts of Xenia. R. H. Kingsbury is acting as scoutmaster until a successor can be appointed and he will then confine his work to Troop One.

BISHOP REESE TO CONFIRM CLASS AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Rt. Rev. Theodore Irving Reese, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, will take charge of the services next Sunday morning at Christ Episcopal Church, this city.

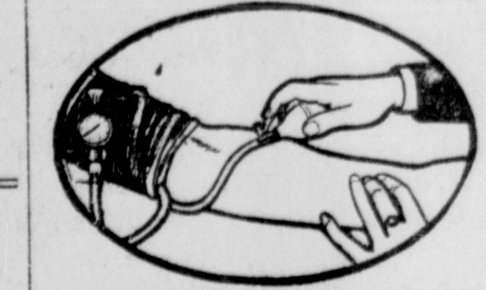

An interesting part of the services will be the administration of confirmation rites to a class of young people, who have been preparing themselves for several weeks.

Bishop Reese will also preach the sermon, bringing an inspiring human message from his long experience as pastor and executive in the church. His coming at this time is particularly interesting due to the fact that he will be the next head of the diocese should the recent resignation of Bishop Boyd Vincent, who is desirous of retiring from active charge, be accepted.

DEBRIS LEFT AFTER WRECK IS CLEARED

Wreckage caused when fifteen freight cars on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad left the track two miles east of Xenia, early Saturday morning, has been practically cleared up and traffic is back to normal on the line.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail, trainmen say. The cars that left the track were in the center of a heavy west-bound freight train. Thirteen of the cars which were wrecked

—to have a good APPETITE!

"Yes! thank you."

A GOOD appetite means a cheerful disposition.

You may have a good appetite if the blood that goes constantly to your vital organs is pure. S.S.S. purifies the blood—a good appetite follows and you will have a clear complexion and will be strong, cheerful and healthy.

Don't go on feeling up one day and down the next—hardly sick but never well—losing "pep," punch and ambition. Hearty eaters are the red-blooded men and women. Enjoy your food! Get back your strength and energy! Reclaim yourself before it is too late! People in a physically run-down condition are an easy prey to disease.

S.S.S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. Your blood-cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. S.S.S. aids Nature in supplying new red-blood-cells—the spark that renews your system. Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S.S.S.—the great blood purifier which gives Nature a helping hand.

Get back the lost appetite, the missing vitality, the keen, sparkling eyes, that look of determination. S.S.S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

COURT NEWS

WIFE SUES THIS TIME

Charging gross neglect of duty, Mary P. Flesher has filed suit for divorce from Malcolm D. Flesher in Common Pleas Court. The couple was married March 2, 1916 and has two children, Anita and Henry.

Flesher shot and severely wounded Alva Chaney, 38, Hartford City, Ind., who was a boarder at the Flesher home in Osborn and whom Flesher suspected of intimacy with his wife, last August 19, it is said.

A charge of shooting with intent to kill was placed against Flesher and he was released under $1,000 bond, after being bound over to the Grand Jury. The case was later dismissed in Common Pleas Court.

Two days after the shooting, Flesher filed suit for divorce from his wife charging infidelity but by October 1, nearly two months afterward, a reconciliation was effected and the case dismissed.

Chaney eventually recovered from his wounds.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home,
but it beats them all for
quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your drugist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Charles Ray's Greatest Achievement

The Courtship of Myles Standish

Nine months in the making. Cost more than $800,000 to produce. Eighty-seven name parts. The film classic of the age. Romantic coloring. The deeds and days of the Pilgrims produced amid thrills and realism. The epic poem transplanted to the screen in stupendous fascinating scenes complete in every detail. The love story irresistible. The picture that should live forever.

—The Story—

History and literature have handed down no greater or more famous love story than that written by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in his immortal poem, "The Courtship of Myles Standish." Brought to the screen, it presents Charles Ray in his greatest role. He displays rare and consummate skill, true genius and personality in the characterization of the dashing young Pilgrim adventurer, John Alden, who faces a thousand deaths courageously, but can't speak his love for the beautiful maiden, Priscilla Mullins. The picture will live forever.

REYNOLDS RETAINS TITLE WHEN NO MATCH IS DECLARED AFTER KILONIS MEETING

Jack Reynolds, world's welter weight champion still retains the crown although the contest with Harry Kilonis of Columbus Tuesday night resulted in him losing on a foul to the Greek.

The referee also gave another decision when he tapped the champion slightly on the back signifying he won. Therefore Referee Krumles gave two decisions neither agreeing with other so both contestants, referee, judges and the Eagles wrestling committee got together after the bout was over and decided it would be termed as no contest. The men are matched for a return-go on Tuesday March 3 at Eagles Hall.

Kilonis gave the champion a fine run for his money and had the Indianapolis man in some mighty tight places. He won the first fall in fourteen minutes with a double toehold which forced Reynolds to give up.

Reynolds made a nice comeback and after working about nine minutes he got the much dreaded leg split on the Columbus mat man forcing him to give up and making a third fall necessary.

Reynolds came within an ace of winning the bout shortly after the third fall had gotten under way when he got a crotch hold but Kilonis wriggled free and got a headlock which the champ broke. He got a body scissors which caused Kilonis much pain but he got a toehold and several minutes later both grips were broken and the men rolled off the mat. The men then took standing positions and traded grips fast. Kilonis then asked for time to tie his shoe. After he had finished and was coming to a standing position Reynolds got a crotch and headlock on him and slammed him to the mat. The referee tapped the champ on the back and he thinking he had won left the ring. Krumles then announced that Kilonis had won on a foul which was disputed later.

While the match lasted it was fast and furious and one of the best seen at the hall to date. Kilonis gave the champion more of a tussle than Gats-off aid and his work pleased the fans. Reynolds showed nice form and is a bit more clever than the Greek grappler.

Two prelims were staged that proved exciting and fast. In the first one Speezy Crawford, colored welter of this city beat Herman Greene also of this city in twelve minutes with an arm lock. The bout was fast and rough from the start but after five minutes of tussling both boys took things easy. Greene did not seem to be in the best of shape.

Gene Wead of this city triumphed over Pete Jacoby of this city in five time, the time being six minutes. Wead looked good and was very strong. He won with a wrist lock. The bout was fast and a clean affair.

Bowling Results

Lawrence Purdom, substituting for Wooley on the Bayliff "5", chalked up a new high single game score for other league pin shooters to point for in the final game between the Kiwanis and Bayliff bowling teams Tuesday night.

Six straight strikes in his final five frames, enabled him to score 228 or two pins better than the previous high single score made in league competition.

Purdom's high score enabled the Bayliffs to take the final game from the Kiwanis by 103 pins, 843 to 740.

BUREAU OF PUBLIC ROADS TO OPERATE STATIONS ON PIKES

Within the next few days a weight party consisting of six men representing the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, and with the U. S. badges prominently displayed on their uniforms, will operate weight station No. 744 on the Dayton Pike.

They will be equipped with a heavy portable scale, for which a drive has recently been constructed, and during a ten hour period they will weigh all trucks and count all passenger cars and busses to secure the following information:

(a) Trucks—Density per hour, state of license, status of ownership, make, capacity, body width, body type, origin and destination, type of origin and destination, total mileage, mileage over Ohio Highways, trips per week, trip time, commodity, packing of load, value of load, type of trucking (Commercial Trucking Company or Owner Operator), gross weight, front and rear axle weight, empty weight, net weight of load, tire size, tire depth and tire impression on pavement.

(b) Passenger Cars—Density per hour.

(c) Passenger Buses—Density per hour, state of passenger capacity, number of passengers, name of operating company, origin and destination, mileage, trip time and tire types.

(d) Horse-Drawn Vehicles—Density per hour, origin and destination, type of origin and destination, mileage, trips per week, trip time, commodity, packing value.

This station will be operated this every two months for one year as will 155 other similar stations on the State Route of Ohio. The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in co-operation with the Ohio Division of Highways is collecting this data to aid in the solution of problems in economic development of Ohio's Highway System and problems of design, types and widths of pavement to serve traffic adequately.

Similar Transport Surveys have been made in California, Massachusetts, Tennessee, Maryland, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Maine and Cook County Illinois. The skeleton of the Ohio organization is made up of seasoned men who assisted in Pennsylvania and Cook County last year.

Similar stations have been operated in the county to gather other important information. This information is never made the basis of prosecution.

MITCHELL CALLED TO GIVE TESTIMONY

Washington Feb. 4.—Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, will be called upon by the war department for an examination of his testimony before the house committee investigating the air service. It was learned today as a result of the bitter controversy which has arisen over the relative merits of aircraft and battleships as weapons of national defense.

BACTERIA HIGH

St. Clairsville, Feb. 4.—Although one sample produced 1,200,000 per 100,000 bacteria count per cubic centimeter is the limit permitted in Belmont County, ten out of thirty-five samples of milk tested by County Veterinarian Theobald were above the limit. Theobald stated, produced 1,200,000 per cubic centimeter while the average was 143,857 for the thirty-five samples. Some in the list were as low as 10,000 per cubic centimeter. Much Belmont County Milk goes to Wheeling.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA and JIM LELAND, bride and groom, settle in their new home to find that Jim's mother expects to rule their lives. Cynthia rebels; Jim's devotion to his mother blinds him.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

IV—BRIDGE TABLE BATTLES

CYNTHIA did not mind playing bridge sometimes, but she hated spending a delightful afternoon playing it with women who treated the game as a matter of life and death. And being late to her sister-in-law's party, given in her honor, did not make the occasion any more pleasant.

Her mother-in-law clutched her as she entered the door, said "How could you forget, Cynthia?" you forget, Cynthia?

"This dear!" in reproachful tones, hastily introduced her to the guests whom she did not know, and pushed her into her place at one of the tables. The game began.

Cynthia's partner was a large, ex-pensively dressed person who indulged in bitter frankness as the game progressed.

"Partner, why didn't you obey my signal?" "Partner, didn't you understand that I meant you to lead clubs then?" "Partner, you could have raised my bid and been sure of making it!"

Cynthia began to feel that she was expected to be a mind reader. The room was close, and heavy with the scent of roses. Her head ached. Her hat felt too tight. The large, vehement woman got more and more bitter. The others at the table began to be limply sympathetic. Cynthia wished that she could have worse luck—inevitably she held good cards, played them her best, and then was shown in detail how she could have played them much better. Nothing but a grand slam seemed to satisfy the large woman.

"Young Mrs. Leland plays such a peculiar game!" The large woman, dummy for that hand, was talking with some friends nearby; even her lowest tones were easily audible. Cynthia set her jaw, took off her hat, and shuffled the cards, determined to show this enemy of the moment that she could play bridge well when she had to, even though she loathed it. She concentrated on the game, playing more carefully than ever before, and tried not to consider the possibility that, if she played badly enough, nobody would ever dare ask her to a bridge party again!

The large woman, playing against her now, opened her bulging eyes wide. Mrs. Leland's peculiar game evidently had its good points, after all.

"I don't understand your bidding—I don't understand—" she murmured feebly, when Cynthia had scored high against her. "Your game is most erratic."

"Yes," retorted Cynthia sweetly, jotting down her score after a hand in which she had taken tricks that seemed lost to her forever. An impudent comment came to her lips, but she checked it. After all, these people were the ones among whom she must spend her life, since she had married Jim. The fact that she would never have chosen them for her friends meant nothing. She must live as her mother-in-law and her sister-in-law wished, apparently—for the present, at least.

"But not any longer than I can help," she vowed, when the game was over at last, and perfectly dressed maids were serving perfectly prepared refreshments. She'd have to do that sort of thing, too, in her house. You were entertained, and then you entertained, and then were entertained again—a vicious circle! She began to estimate the amount of mousse she had eaten since she and Jim returned from their honeymoon and the round of post-nuptial parties began. She was sure that it ran into gallons!

Women were talking to her, making the usual comments, asking the usual questions. How did she like her new home? Didn't she find the city charming? She had gone to Miss Lewis' school in Washington, hadn't she? Perhaps she had known Elaine Graham there? No?

"Not that anybody cares whether I knew her or not," she told herself as the chatter ceased. "But they have to say something." Would she ever really know these women, and like them? How stupid and uninteresting she must seem to them, how like a dressed-up doll!

She went home as soon as she possibly could, to find Jim waiting for her. He was tired and rather cross—had looked forward to coming home and finding her there, he announced, and going for a drive out into the country.

"But, Jim dear, it was your sister's bridge party; I had to go," she told him.

"Yes, of course," he answered.

"Mother never nags," said Jim coldly.

"But it does seem as if you might be here when I come home early once in awhile. You're always at some party or other."

"It isn't my fault!" she exclaimed. "I hate these affairs. I forgot all about the one this afternoon—was planning to walk down to your office and call for you—and your mother called me up and was furious at me."

"My heavens—you forgot! And you were the guest of honor!" Horror lay heavy in his voice. "Why, Cynthia, that's—well, really, you should have remembered."

"One minute you scold me for going, and the next you find fault because I almost didn't go!" she sobbed. "It was nothing but quarrels all the time I was there—just one constant fight over a card table—and then you and I quarrel when I get home. Jim, I simply hate this way of living. Your mother will never nag me into going anywhere again unless I want to go!"

"Mother never nags," Jim began coldly, looking up from the newspaper he had picked up, but Cynthia had rushed off to her own room, drop into a corner of the window-seat and try to gain control of herself.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

Masterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Masterole.

Masterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Masterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Masterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Masterole.

DOCTORS PRESCRIBE NEW FORM COCO LIVER OIL CALLED COCO COD

Builds Strength and Stamina; Makes You Feel Alive in Every Fibre

A new form of pure Norwegian cod liver oil called Coco Cod is being prescribed extensively by physicians here with amazing results. It is really delightful to take because it has the taste of rich cocoas.

"If our food contained the nourishing vitamins found in Coco Cod, elements which make strong, steady nerves and rich red blood, there would be no need for tonics," said a doctor.

But modern food is weak, and modern cookery renders it weaker. Coco Cod liver oil, always popular with the medical fraternity, has won added confidence in this new form called Coco Cod, because of the rich A, B, C and D vitamins which the preparation contains.

It is astounding how men and women, who really consider themselves normal, healthy people, gain added strength, stamina and sheer vitality in a comparatively short time. Even athletes, eager to reach the pink of condition, find a short cut to their goal through Coco Cod.

Children who shrink from ordinary cod liver oil, love Coco Cod with its delightful cocoa flavor. And how they thrive on it! Mothers and fathers, worn and tired from over-work and under-nourishment, find new vigor and energy in Coco Cod, which makes them feel alive in every fibre.

All good druggists have Coco Cod, the new easy-to-take cod liver oil with the taste of rich cocoas.—Adv.
